Moscow (P)—Premier Khrushchev drank a Fourth of July toast to friendship with the United States Wednesday.

Then he told Benny Goodman he didn't like jazz, either American or Russian, and got into a free-wheeling discussion ranging from modern painting to Prime Minister Nehru's yoga exercises.

KHRUSHCHEV . . . Toasts America

"I want to congratulate the American people," Khrushchev said as he made an appearance at the U.S. Embassy's Independence Day reception for the second straight year. "I wish for peace and success. That is the main thing."

He toasted President Kennedy.

From then on it was mostly modern jazz and painting, with Khrushchev attacking Goodman defending.

Goodman started the jazz talk going as he was shaking hands with the premier under a spreading tree.

"Ah, a new jazz fan," said Goodman.

"No," said Khrushchev, smiling. "I don't like Goodman music, I like good music."

That was the way his words came out in translation. It was unlikely the premier was making a play on words.

Boo Boo Boo

Khrushchev indicated what he thought of jazz by saying it started out "Boo Boo Boo Boo," and he did a little jig step.

"I don't understand it," Khrushchev continued. "I don't mean just American jazz. I don't understand our own Russian jazz either."

The talk shifted to modern art as Khrushchev said:

"When I talked to President Eisenhower, he said he was an amateur painter. When he talked about modern trends in painting, he said 'it makes me sick to the stomach.'"

"I said 'It's the same with me.'"

Goodman defended modern painting stoutly, saying that painters had to experiment. He cited Gauguin, Matisse and others and said that in their time they were not universally popular.

Really Relax

Khrushchev said he liked paintings in the formal Russian museums—"there you can go and really relax."

"Artists must do strange things to get somewhere, to create," said Goodman.

"But if a man lies on his back and swings his legs in the air, is that creation?" asked Khrushchev. "What would people think if you started doing it? If I did it, they would think I was out of my mind and they would be right."

Train Wreck Kills 2

Florence, S.C. (P)—An Atlantic Coast Line passenger train carrying holiday passengers from Florida to New York tumbled off the track near here Wednesday. Two crewmen died and at least 10 passengers were hurt.

Both diesel engines and 7 of the 8 coaches of the railroad's Havana Special toppled from the tracks, 4 of the units winding up in a deep gully between the tracks and U.S. Route 52 which parallels the dual tracks of ACL's main north-south line.

Dead were Rindy Keels, 58, the engineer, and Thomas H. Jones, 43, the fireman, both of Florence.

The train was en route from St. Petersburg, Fla., to New York. Officials of the railroad said it had a medium passenger load.

Straight Track
The derailment occurred near the end of a 20-mile stretch of almost straight track, ending at the Lynch River which cuts through eastern South Carolina farm country.

ACL officials said some construction work on the roadbed had been underway in the area of the wreck, near the town of Effingham, 7 miles south of here. The area also had been drenched with heavy rains recently.

The two engines, operating on one set of controls, were first to leave the tracks, followed by a baggage car. These, along with a pullman car, brushed the roadbed of U.S. Route 52 before toppling back into a deep gully which separates the tracks from the highway. The highway and the tracks are separated by about 40 yards.

The other derailed cars, including most of the passenger coaches, remained on the railroad bed.

Started Shuddering
One passenger said, "The train started shuddering, and I thought the engineer had a heavy foot and had slammed on the brakes."

Another passenger said he was asleep and awoke suddenly when the train began to shudder as if being stopped suddenly. "I knew something was wrong, and suddenly we keeled over. I just climbed out," he said.

Goal Is 30,000

"Presently we have 26,248 registered Democrats in the county and our goal is 30,000 registrations by Oct. 1," Grant declared.

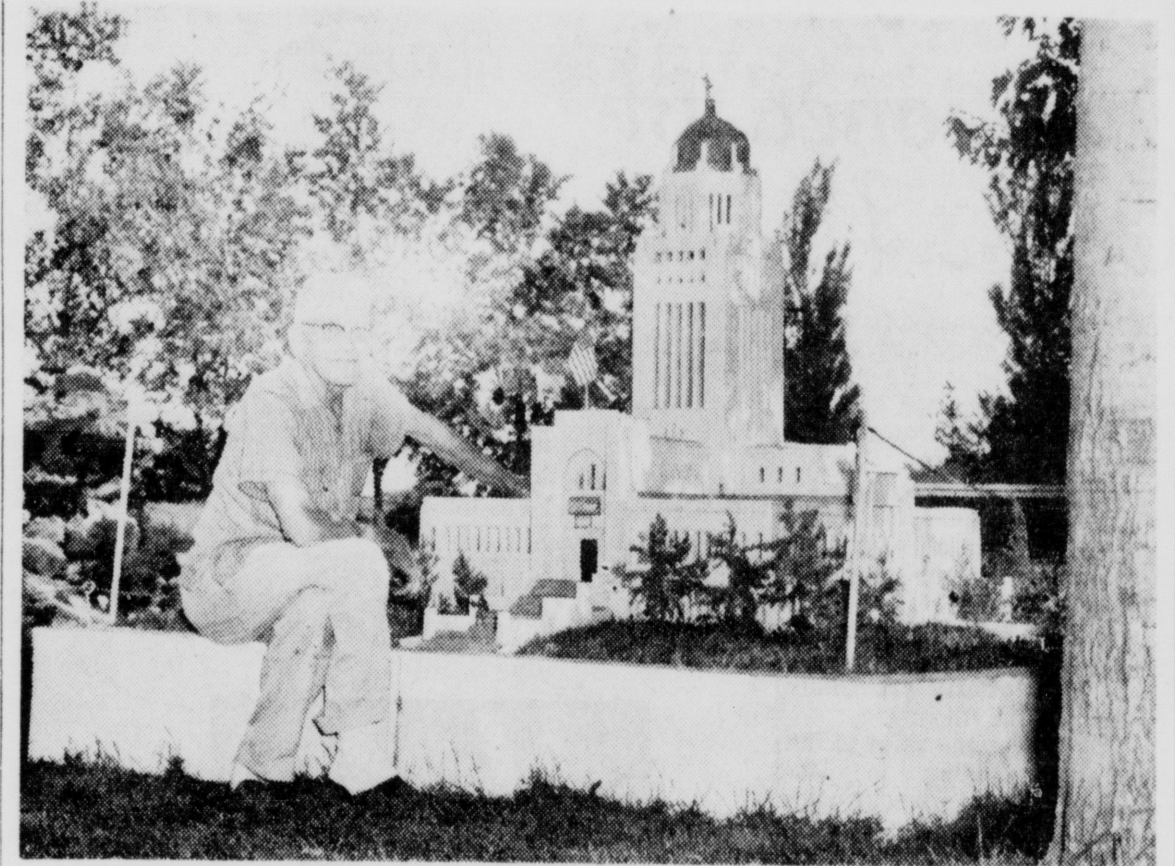

"No political party has ever undertaken such a massive drive in Lancaster County," Grant said. Involved in the program are leaders in all 12 of the city's wards and nearly every precinct.

Morrison will personally make a number of calls to Democrats chosen at random from voter lists, Grant pointed out.

The party will sponsor a series of rallies throughout the coming months.

"We know there are many more Democrats than those who have taken time to register," Grant said.

"Many of them are eager to work for the party but want us to take the first step."

QUITE AN IDEA . . . Roy Palmlade and his Statehouse.

Axtell Carpenter Builds Own Capitol

By GENE BUDIG
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Axtell — One day, quite a few years ago, a young man stood in the shadow of the imposing State Capitol building.

He was impressed. With an idea, he returned home. "I promised myself that someday I'd build my own capitol building," recalled retired carpenter Roy Palmlade.

"Well, sir," he continued. "I did just that. It's right over there."

Before the Axtell man's sight stood a miniature replica of the Nebraska structural showpiece in Lincoln.

"It's got 432 windows, only a few less than the actual building," Palmlade reported, noting there is glass in each frame.

Atop the 4-foot high wooden structure is a sower, molded from a World War I toy soldier. Below stands a miniature William Jennings Bryan on the front steps. "It took more than 225 hours to erect the structure," he related.

And, actual planning started several months before his hammer.

"I went to Lincoln and studied the building for a couple days and gathered all the available information on the structure," he said.

Now that the miniature Statehouse is finished, Palmlade keeps busy caring for the 8-foot square grounds. He recently planted 8 cedar trees.

Palmlade said the miniature creation reflects his pride in Nebraska, which is "a darn good place to live."

Striking Doctors Are Threatened

... ROYAL CANADIAN MOUNTED POLICE CALLED IN

Regina, Sask. (UPI) — A self-styled "Citizens Safety Committee" Wednesday threatened 7 striking doctors and their families with violence at Swift Current, Sask., unless the doctors get back on the job by Friday morning.

Swift Current Mayor R. C. Dahl called in the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and ordered local police to guard the doctors.

It was the first direct threat of violence in the 4-day provincial doctors' strike.

Threat Came
The threat came as Quebec leaders of the Canadian Medical Association rebuked the doctors for striking and international protests built up against both the doctors and the provincial government's compulsory medicare plan which triggered the doctors' walkout.

The "Citizens Safety Committee" sent an open letter to the doctors in the Swift Current area.

The otherwise unidentified committee said a group of "young men" were taking the action with the object of "ensuring the rights of the people."

Letter Demands
The letter demanded that "so-called doctors return to their respective practices or they will suffer such harm to themselves, their families and their property as the organization may deem fit."

The letter admitted a "premeditated threat" was involved. But it said the committee felt the threat to be "No more ruthless than the situation the doctors have subjected the people to with callous disregard for health and safety."

Dahl ordered copies of the letter sent to the mounted police laboratories in Regina to see if technicians could find any clues to the identity of the committee members.

He said he took action to protect the doctors and their families because he felt it was "necessary to protect our medical services" and "hoped that existing emergency services (during the strike) can be maintained."

Protests were building up against the government as fast as against the doctors.

A number of citizens groups planned to march on the capitol Thursday or Friday and demand that Premier Woodrow Lloyd junk his medical insurance act. Other citizens groups planned mass protest demonstrations against the doctors.

Flies Over Gettysburg
Kennedy did not fly directly to Camp David, but ordered his pilot to fly over the Gettysburg, Pa., battlefield where 99 years ago Wednesday, Gen. Robert E. Lee ordered the retreat of his beaten Confederate forces.

The wide circle flown by Kennedy's Marine Corps helicopter carried it over the edge of former President Eisenhower's farm home which is on the edge of the battlefield. This added 15 minutes to the flight.

President Kennedy chose historic Independence Hall to call for an international Declaration of Interdependence—a partnership with a United Europe.

Kennedy Rests At Camp David

Wild Enthusiasm Marks His Philadelphia Departure

By STERLING F. GREEN

Thurmont, Md. (P)—After a tumultuous two hours in Philadelphia for an Independence Day speech Wednesday, President Kennedy settled down in the quiet of Camp David, the presidential retreat near here in the Catoctin Mountains.

The President planned an overnight stay in the comfortable rustic camp with Mrs. Kennedy and their children. He expected to return at about 9:30 a.m. EDT, Thursday to Washington, where he has scheduled a 4 p.m. news conference.

A milling, cheering throng greeted Kennedy's helicopter when it landed on a cleared parking lot near Philadelphia's National Independence Park at 10:30 a.m. after a flight from the White House. The President, smiling and in high spirits, joined in the holiday mood.

But he was in deadly serious mood in delivering his 36-minute speech to the assemblage which included the nation's governors. He pledged to strive for a "concrete Atlantic partnership" for peace and freedom.

Eager Throng
Kennedy's departure from Philadelphia at 12:12 p.m. was the scene of wild enthusiasm. Thousands of spectators streamed onto the parking lot where twin helicopters awaited the President and his party.

Youngsters broke through the barricades trying to reach Kennedy's open car or to take pictures. Brawny Philadelphia policemen picked up some over-eager teen-agers and tossed them bodily over the barricades to keep them from being pushed under the wheels of the President's caravan.

At the parking lot, Kennedy, instead of getting directly aboard his helicopter, walked over to shake hands and exchange greetings with well wishers.

As the helicopter roared off, Press Secretary Pierre Salinger told newsmen that Independence Day greetings from heads of state were pouring into the White House. About 40 had arrived during the morning, including one from Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

—AGAINST GOLDWATER—
Eisenhower Enters GOP Family Fight

Washington (UPI) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower stepped squarely into a mushrooming Republican Party family fight Wednesday with a statement that lined him up with the party liberals and against Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R-Ariz.

Eisenhower declared that creation of a new GOP policy-advising council — attacked just two days ago by Goldwater — would help promote "the progressive programs" he said were the "core of Republicanism."

In a letter to GOP National Chairman William E. Miller, the ex-President hailed formation of an all Republican conference and a permanent national Republican citizens committee at a GOP meeting at his Gettysburg, Pa., farm last Saturday.

Goldwater Attacked
His letter, released by the GOP committee, came after Goldwater wrote Miller Monday attacking the new research and advisory council. The Arizona senator said most of the new group's leaders contributed to the "divisive tactics" that cost the GOP the White House in 1960.

"It is unthinkable that they should be given another opportunity to lead us down the path to political destruction," he said.

Goldwater, a leader of the party's conservative wing, also criticized Eisenhower administration policies. He said they "ran counter to the traditional principles of the Republican party and the counsel of all regular party leaders."

Javits Enters
On Tuesday, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., of the GOP liberal wing, sent Miller a letter saying the conference and citizens committee would bring in "elements of strength which the Republican organization has not adequately drawn in."

Eisenhower, speaking of the 100-member all Republican conference, composed of GOP leaders in and out of Congress, said:

Traffic Deaths Mounting At Record Pace
By Associated Press
Three separate accidents claimed the lives of 15 persons, 8 of them children, Wednesday as traffic fatalities mounted toward a possible record for a one-day observance of Independence Day.

There were 95 traffic deaths, 12 in boating accidents, 42 drownings and 22 fatalities in miscellaneous accidents, for an over-all total of 171.

Nebraska has recorded two traffic deaths, one drowning, one miscellaneous death and no boating fatalities.

Demo Drive To Kick Off At Mansion

Lancaster County Democrats will kick off a massive membership drive July 10 with a rally at the Governor's Mansion.

Gov. Frank Morrison will act as host at the event scheduled for 8 p.m.

The drive—called "Operation Stand Up and Be Counted"—is designed to contact every registered Democrat in the county and urge their active participation in party affairs. County Chairman Donald R. Grant said.

Unregistered Democrats will be contacted for their registration, he noted.

Goal Is 30,000
"Presently we have 26,248 registered Democrats in the county and our goal is 30,000 registrations by Oct. 1," Grant declared.

"No political party has ever undertaken such a massive drive in Lancaster County," Grant said. Involved in the program are leaders in all 12 of the city's wards and nearly every precinct.

Girls' Nation Delegates Chosen

Candace Francine May of Omaha and Diana Rae Heckman of Albion have been chosen to represent Nebraska at the 16th annual Girls' Nation in Washington, D.C., July 29 to August 4.

Sessions will be held on the American University campus. The project is sponsored by the national American Legion Auxiliary, with delegates from every state in attendance.

Algiers Borders On Anarchy

NO VISIBLE SIGNS OF AUTHORITY

... French Powers End

Algiers (AP) — This new nation bordered on anarchy Wednesday and administration ground to a halt as Nationalist officials struggled to set up an effective regime and head off internal strife.

The French abruptly halted administrative operations throughout Algeria and surrendered their powers to the new Moslem state, leaving confusion and no visible sign of authority.

European fears of disorders and anarchy rose as Moslems began moving without hindrance into apartments once occupied by Frenchmen and stealing cars of Europeans.

Ministers of the Nationalist government of Premier Yousef Ben Khedda, who returned from their Tunisian exile Tuesday, consulted with members of the Algerian provisional executive headed by Abderrahmane Fares.

Reporters Barred

Newsmen were barred from any contact with officials. Sketchy information indicated that the talks concerned the formation of a temporary regime for the country of 10 million, still groggy from its newly acquired independence.

The authority was theoretically in the hands of Fares, yet the main force in Algeria was the Front of National Liberation (FLN) and its regime headed by Ben Khedda.

A blackout was imposed on activities of national guerrillas in the interior, some of whom have sworn allegiance to dissident Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella.

From his refuge in Cairo, Ben Bella showed no sign of healing the split in the Algerian leadership. While he is said to have opposed Ben Khedda's policy on collaboration with France, he insisted the sole cause of his dispute was Ben Khedda's firing of 3 National Liberation army commanders.

Plot Feared

Ben Khedda charged the 3 were plotting a military coup. All were listed as supporters of Ben Bella.

Armed Nationalist guerrillas stood guard near public buildings in Algiers abandoned by French officials and most of the employees.

A handful of Europeans who showed up to work whispered in empty rooms of the Algiers prefecture. In many offices, papers were strewn on the floors.

On some intersections, French policemen in white kepis and gloves tried to direct traffic. But caravans of cheering, flag-waving Moslems ignored all signs and traffic laws.

Adm. James H. Thach Dies At Home In East

Old Lyme, Conn. (AP)—Vice Adm. James H. Thach Jr., who retired from the Navy in 1957, died at his home here Wednesday after an illness of several years. He was 61.

He was a brother of Vice Adm. John S. Thach, who is now commander of the Anti-Submarine Warfare Force with the Pacific Fleet.

Thach (pronounced Thatch) served 34 years in the Navy before his retirement. A native of Pine Bluff, Ark., he was graduated from the Naval Academy in 1923.

Capitol Beach Sky Divers Think Quick, Avert Tragedy

Quick thinking by two skydivers performing at the Capitol Beach 4th of July water ski show Wednesday averted what could have been a serious tragedy.

The Black Hawk Sky Diving Team's performance consisted of jumping from a small plane, 4,500 feet over Salt Lake, falling in free flight for a short period, then opening their chutes and landing in the water.

An eyewitness, Bill Simmons, president of the Lincoln Water Ski Show, said the 3 members of the group, led by Joe Bean of Roca, jumped according to plan. All went well until one of the team members fell into Bean's parachute, tearing and collapsing it.

Both men became entangled then, Simmons said, and fell for some distance before Bean's auxiliary chute popped open. Spectators gasped their relief as the pair floated into the parking lot of the race track, a short distance away.

Bean suffered a deep cut on the back of the head in the landing but refused to

Convict Questioned In Finding Of $2.4 Million

Jersey City, N.J. (AP)—Convicted gambler Joseph (Newsboy) Moriarty coolly brushed off attempts Wednesday to pin him down as the owner of more than $2.4 million in cash found in an abandoned car here Tuesday.

Moriarty, questioned at Trenton State Prison where he is serving a 2-to-3-year term for possession of lottery slips, was flippant and unruffled as Hudson County prosecutor Lawrence A. Whipple interviewed him.

Whipple said he greeted Moriarty by saying: "You've just lost two and a half million dollars."

"You're telling me!" Moriarty answered, according to Whipple.

But then the 47-year-old numbers racketeer refused to confirm or deny possession or ownership of the money.

Klepper Named Shrine Potentate

From Press Reports

Toronto — The Shriners Wednesday installed George M. Klepper of Memphis, Tenn., as their new imperial potentate succeeding Justice Marshall M. Porter of Calgary.

A sixth Shriner died since the convention opened Sunday.

Louis Stanley Olicker, 71, of Arlington, Va., who was taken ill early Wednesday morning, was pronounced dead at Toronto General Hospital.

Other officers of the Imperial Council elected were: Deputy imperial potentate, Harold C. Close, Scotland, Conn.; imperial high priest and prophet, Charles E. Merrill, Detroit; imperial Oriental guide, Leonard P. Stewart, Washington, D. C.; imperial treasurer, George M. Saunders, Kansas City, Mo.; imperial recorder, Orville F. Rush of Alabama; imperial first ceremonial master, Thomas F. Seay, Chicago; imperial marshal, J. Worth Baker of Indiana.

papers or weapons discovered by two workmen in the trunk of a debris-filled 1947 Plymouth abandoned in a recently sold private garage, the prosecutor said.

Whipple said Moriarty turned aside questions, saying he would retain a lawyer and make a formal statement through counsel.

Jersey City police chief Austin J. Conley told newsmen that Moriarty was solidly linked to the money.

"All indications point to the money belonging to Moriarty," he said. Among papers found with the money were internal revenue returns, personal mail, Christmas cards and government bonds belonging to Moriarty, Conley said.

Whipple, who returned to his office here after spending less than half an hour with Moriarty in Trenton, said the convict's composure was ruffled once in the course of the questioning.

Moriarty appeared shaken at Whipple's implication that some of the bills were bundled with hands belonging to the Rutherford National Bank, which was robbed several years ago, the prosecutor said.

Other documents found in the car linking Moriarty to the case were subpoenas and files stolen between 1951 and 1952 from the Hudson County prosecutor's office. One of the files contained records of a 1951 case in which Moriarty was arrested for bookmaking and possession of lottery tickets.

Whipple said investigators have traced ownership of the treasure car to a woman he described as a girl friend of Moriarty's. He identified her as Ann Petrick of Jersey City. She is being sought, Whipple said.

Also found in the car were 4 guns and considerable ammunition. Equipment of the type used by bookmakers and numbers operators was discovered in a 1951 Ford stored in an adjoining garage.

May Be Same Car

R. W. Bachman, special agent in charge of the Newark office of the FBI, said Moriarty was arrested in a 1947 Plymouth in 1951. Alfred Jago, an investigator in the Hudson County prosecutor's office, said he was quite certain the car containing the money was the same car in which Moriarty was arrested.

More than a dozen FBI agents and two accountants, leave the show until after the second performance at 4 p.m.

Tom Kidd of 236 No. 31st, manager of the Capitol Beach swimming pool, applied a pressure compress to halt the bleeding, and the show went on. Afterwards, Bean was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital and released.

Seven Killed In Minnesota Crash

Eveleth, Minn. (UPI) — A head-on two-car collision on the outskirts of Eveleth late Wednesday killed 7 persons and injured two others in the nation's worst holiday traffic crash.

Four of the victims were members of one family. Authorities identified 5 of those killed as: Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Halunen, Virginia, Minn., and their children, Jerry and David; and Charles Turner of Eveleth.

Highway Patrol authorities said the two cars collided with terrific impact and it appeared that one of the vehicles swung out from a service road into the path of the oncoming car.

The bodies of a young man and a young woman had not been identified.

Fourth Of July Observance Worldwide

By The Associated Press

New York (AP) — Americans at home and abroad paused Wednesday to honor the 186th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence.

President Kennedy led the worldwide festivities by attending a mammoth celebration at Independence Hall in Philadelphia where the Declaration was approved by the Continental Congress on July 4, 1776.

Independence Day also had a special significance for thousands of Americans posted on faraway shores.

In Berlin, cut in half by a high concrete wall, Gen. Lucius D. Clay took the guest of honor salute as a parade of American troops and armored equipment filed past 30,000 cheering West Berliners.

During the evening there were band concerts and fireworks. But the East German leaders, whose communist regime encircles West Berlin and its small American garrison, paid no attention.

In Korea, divided by the 38th parallel, a booming 50-gun salute was fired at noon by American troops in Seoul followed by a colorful parade of international brigades under the United Nations command.

Southeast Asia had a number of celebrations. The pro-communist acting premier of Laos attended a U.S. Embassy party and toasted the President and American friendship.

BIGGEST BANG YET READIED IN NEVADA

Las Vegas, Nev. (AP) — The most powerful atomic blast yet set off in the United States — an underground test expected to be spectacularly visible above ground — is set for Friday or sooner at the Nevada proving grounds.

The Atomic Energy Commission announced Wednesday the 100-kiloton explosion will be part of its Plowshare program for peaceful uses of atomic energy.

Forty-one Nevada underground tests for weapons development have been announced in recent months.

The new shot, dubbed Project Sedan, will be touched off 650 feet underground. It is expected to create a crater 1,400 feet wide and 300 feet deep and send a column of dirt and dust high into the air.

The most powerful previous detonation was the so-called Hood shot, July 5, 1957. It was 74.3 kilotons, fired from a balloon suspended 1,500 feet above the desert. The bomb that leveled Hiroshima in World War II was 20 kilotons.

First Lady And Caroline Going To Italy In August

By HELEN THOMAS

Washington, (UPI) — Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy and her 4-year old daughter Caroline will vacation in Italy for about two weeks during August, the White House announced Wednesday night.

Miss Pamela Turnure, Mrs. Kennedy's press secretary, said the First Lady would join her sister, Princess Lee Radziwill at the Radziwill Villa on the Italian Riviera for a vacation when President Kennedy is expected to be traveling about the United States.

The trip will be a private visit, Miss Turnure said. No date, however, had been set when Mrs. Kennedy will leave.

The princess will join her sister at the Mediterranean seaside accompanied by her two children, Anthony, 3, and Anna Christina, about 18 months, for the holiday, the White House said.

The trip would be Caroline's first excursion abroad. Her baby brother, John Jr., 19 months, will remain in the care of his nurse, Mrs. Maud Shaw, and probably Kennedy relatives at Cape Cod, Mass.

Mrs. Kennedy and Caroline were expected to fly to Europe by commercial airliner and to be accompanied by the regular secret Service agents assigned to them.

Both President and Mrs. Kennedy have vacationed off-

Mrs. Kennedy Caroline en in the past in Europe, mostly on the French Riviera. Last June, the First Lady and Princess Radziwill took a 10-day tour of the Greek islands on the Greek prime minister's yacht.

Two Omahans Killed

By United Press International
Two persons died in overnight traffic accidents in the Omaha area as the Fourth of July holiday got underway in Nebraska.

Victims of the accidents were Herbert Burman, 69, Omaha, and Edward Traynor, 21, Omaha.

The State Safety Patrol said Burman was killed in a collision at a 132nd Street intersection west of the city late Tuesday night. The car in which he was riding was in collision with one driven by Robert Nattress, 17, Omaha. Karen Bevins, 17, riding in the Nattress car, was seriously injured. She suffered a jaw fracture, compound fracture of the right leg, and other injuries. She was transferred to Lutheran Hospital in Omaha and described as in fair condition Wednesday.

Nattress and another passenger, Robert Carter, 17, a cousin from California, were injured less seriously.

Others in the Burman car were William Wallace, 43, and Mrs. Helen Riggs, 49, both of whom were injured and in fair condition Wednesday.

Authorities said Traynor was fatally injured when his car slammed into a wall at a T-intersection south of Omaha. He died about an hour after arriving at a hospital.

Beatrice Boy Said Drowned In Gravel Pit

Beatrice (B) — A Beatrice youth drowned early Wednesday in a gravel pit northwest of Beatrice.

The sheriff's office said the body of Gary Ellison was still being sought several hours after he disappeared. Ellison, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Ellison of Beatrice, was about 19.

The sheriff's office said young Ellison was swimming with a group at Johnson's Gravel Pit about 1 a.m. Ellison, who was described as a poor swimmer, had waded at first, then gone into deeper water.

Companions said they saw him go under and made a futile attempt to rescue him.

'Farmer's Net Income Lower Than In 1930's'

There is no doubt that low farm prices have made the farmer a second-class citizen, the executive secretary of the Nebraska Cooperative Council has told leaders of that organization.

In the July issue of "Cooperation in Nebraska," the council monthly publication, Gordon Busboom said the farmer's net income today is even lower than it was in the depression of the 1930's.

"Today he receives about 75 cents an hour for his work. Compared to $2.22 an hour for the worker in manufacturing," Busboom said. "His net income is at an all-time low of 30%."

"One Nebraska farmer, after studying his books, found that he was working for a penny an hour," he continued. "Virtually all of his income merely paid interest on his investment."

Busboom asked co-op leaders to make wider use of the co-op method to help farmers gain economic equity.

$185 Per Acre Tops Sales Of Oil Land Leases

Denver (AP) — A series of oil land lease sales were held in Rocky Mountain-high plains states last week, drawing a top of $185 an acre.

Petroleum Information, an industry publication, said the high bid was made by Pan American Petroleum Co. for a tract in Stensvad Field in central Montana.

Shell Oil Co. paid $105.01 an acre for several tracts on the southeastern Cedar Creek anticline in North Dakota. A tract in northwestern South Dakota went for $10 an acre. Other developments included:

Nebraska — Falcon Sea-board Drilling Co. staked 4 new locations in Banner County. They are 1-C Singleton, and east offset to the abandoned Sinclair Field, and 1-D Singleton, both projected to 5,850 feet in J sand; 1 Olsen, a projected 5,100-foot J sand test a mile east of the abandoned Horn Field, and 1 Horn, a mile east of Huffman Field, staked for a 5,000-foot J sand test.

McCook Has Growing Paper

By GENE BUDIG
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

McCook — Southwest Nebraskans lay claim to many things, including the state's fastest growing small daily newspaper.

The McCook Daily Gazette has grown 81% in the past 9 years, reports its young editor, Allen Strunk.

Recently, the spurring daily topped 8,000 circulation and it marked the occasion in typical Barnum and Bailey style.

An aerial banner flew behind a slow-moving airplane, announcing the feat.

No Single Factor

"No single factor has been responsible for giving us this increase," Strunk told the Star. "It has come through improvement in the news content of the paper as well as hard selling by the circulation department and carriers throughout the area."

He loudly praises "hard work by the staff." The publication has correspondents in all of the 40 surrounding communities.

"I believe we have one of the state's most complete farm sections," Strunk says, noting it features 3 to 4 pages of local copy a week.

Begun In 1911

McCook, a city of 8,301 persons in the 1960 census, has been the home of the Gazette since it was started as a semi-weekly by the late Harry D. Strunk in 1911. In 1924, he converted to a daily operation.

The senior Strunk set aviation and journalism history in 1929 when he became the first publisher to deliver newspapers regularly by plane.

The "Newsboy," a Curtis Robin, flew nearly 400 miles daily, delivering Gazettes in 13 Nebraska and Kansas counties. A tornado destroyed the plane 9 months after its initial flight and the service was discontinued.

Young Strunk, who joined his father at the Gazette as general manager in 1953, looks to the future with optimism for both his newspaper and his community.

"We have a 3-way shot at growth," he says. "With 60,000 newly irrigated acres, oil fields now about two years old and the geographic location and strong civic desire for industry, we can't miss."

The editor said: "In the 1970 and 1980 censuses, McCook should be among the top growth cities in the state."

New Pool Dedicated At Burwell

Burwell (B) — Burwell's new swimming pool, financed completely by contributions from area residents, was dedicated Wednesday at ceremonies attended by about 400 persons.

The $55,000 pool has been in use about a month. Fred A. Seaton of Hastings, the Republican candidate for governor, spoke briefly at the dedication. He praised the residents for going ahead on their own to build the pool rather than ask for federal or state financial aid.

The day's activities included a fly-in breakfast, an air show and a dance. A National Guard helicopter participated in the air show.

Anderson Joins Purdue Faculty

Fremont — Dr. Charles V. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Anderson of Fremont, has begun duties as an assistant professor in the department of speech at Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind.

Receiving both his bachelor of science and his master's degree from the University of Nebraska, Anderson received his doctor of philosophy degree from the University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine.

He served as instructor in the department of speech at NU from 1956 to 1958 and also was director of the hearing testing program for school-age children in state schools.

Fire Rages Through Lexington Building

Lexington (UPI) — Fire raged through a huge steel building near here early Wednesday causing an estimated $50,000 to $75,000 worth of damage.

The fire started about 2 a.m. at Canada's, Inc., a heavy equipment concern. The firm is housed in a steel building on an industrial site on U.S. 30 just east of here.

Fire Chief Leo Shaw said he believed lightning touched off the fire. It burned about 30 minutes, he estimated, before firemen were notified. The fire department brought the blaze under control about 6 a.m.

Ecker Pleads Guilty

McCook (UPI) — Lloyd Ecker, 30, Herndon, Kan., pleaded guilty in Red Willow County Court to charges of cashing a $57.85 no-account check April 13 at a McCook auto dealer's. Ecker was released on $1,000 bond, pending arraignment.

Dr. Beaver To Chicago School

Hastings — Dr. Joseph C. Beaver, professor of English and acting head of the English Department at Hastings College for the past year, has resigned to accept a position at Chicago Teachers College North, Chicago, Ill.

Chicago Teachers College North is a newly formed college in the Chicago system. Dr. Beaver will be working closely with an experimental program in the basic courses, with special emphasis upon new, structural linguistic approaches in the teaching of American English.

Dr. Beaver came to Hastings College in the fall of 1961; he is married and has 3 children. A native of St. Louis, Dr. Beaver holds a master's degree from Columbia University and a doctorate from New York University. He is author of the book, Walt Whitman, Poet of Science, published in 1951 by Columbia University Press.

Dr. Schmidt Named

Chadron — Dr. F. Clark Elkins, president of the Nebraska State College at Chadron, announced the appointment of Dr. Bernardine Schmidt as assistant professor of education effective Sept. 1. Dr. Schmidt received her bachelor of science and master of arts degree from DePaul University and her doctor's degree from Northwestern University.

Norfolk Doctor Is Found Dead In Automobile

Norfolk (AP) — A Norfolk physician, 52-year-old Dr. Earl Slaughter, was found dead in his car Wednesday. The car was in a ditch in the northern part of Norfolk.

Officials said cause of death had not been determined. There was no damage to the auto.

Dr. Slaughter is survived by his widow and 4 brothers, Wayne of Chicago and Howard, Owen and John, all of Evansville, Ind.

New Traffic Ordinance

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

A good ordinance on traffic matters has been introduced in the City Council but it could be better. In short, the ordinance takes all the scattered responsibilities for traffic planning and places them in the hands of Lincoln's new traffic engineer. This is a much needed step and one that will pay us many times over in the years ahead. The new engineer's salary will prove to be a drop in the bucket compared to what he can do for Lincoln.

The one shortage in the new ordinance has to do with a problem only related to traffic. This problem is zoning. Responsibility for zoning cannot, of course, be placed in the hands of the traffic engineer. There is no need to do anything about the present routine for handling zoning cases—submission to the City-County Planning Commission and final action by the City Council. It would be well, however, if approval by the traffic engineer was a second step in this procedure. There are a number of rather abominable traffic situations in Lincoln which are the direct result of bad zoning and more are in the works.

If the new traffic ordinance required a recommendation from the traffic engineer on all zoning changes, it would put the spotlight on this important element of automobile movement. If such a change is done only informally, it will just dwindle away into nothing and the actions of the traffic engineer will be lost in the other considerations that go into any zoning change.

At the present time the city's planning engineer makes zoning recommendations to the commission and his report will include consideration of the traffic situation. But this does not give the matter of traffic the full attention that it deserves. It will get this kind of attention only if it is given separate consideration by a man professionally trained in traffic matters.

What is there about the rest of this ordinance that makes it such a fine thing for Lincoln? Those familiar with the procedures of the past know the answer to this question. In traffic matters, Lincoln has been a mixture of many things but this ordinance is aimed at putting everything together and in order. Rather than three or four departments and several agencies all handling traffic matters, we will have things centralized in the hands of the traffic engineer. It will be his job to put together in one piece all the odds and ends that came from many places in the past. It will be his responsibility to fit together expected traffic flow and the design of new streets. Thus, he will be working in cooperation with both the Police Department traffic division and the office of city engineer. He will have to key the various traffic devices to the facility involved, the speed of vehicles, the origin and destination of vehicles, etc. When a new street or the improvement of an existing one is planned, it isn't just a matter of setting up forms and pouring in the concrete. If you do things in this manner, you end up with a high accident rate and a poor traffic movement pattern. You may end up, as a result of these liabilities, doing your work all over again or duplicating it in another area to take care of the shortcomings in the original job. This is where you get into excessive costs.

When a new street is opened or an existing one repaired, it needs to be done with careful planning so that intersections can be engineered for the turn movements expected, so that paving width can meet anticipated traffic lane demands of the future, so that the type of construction can stand up under the use expected and so that other facilities are complemented.

This latter point is important. It means that street construction should be carried out on a long-range basis, not day-to-day. By doing things in a day-to-day fashion, you end up a year from now with a lot of odds and ends that don't fit together. What you did last year doesn't fit in with what you want to do today and this means waste through duplication.

When you build a four-lane arterial, you want to know for sure that it will not be outmoded by a bigger and better facility before its life expectancy has expired. You want to know, too, that you have not selected your arterial street system in such a way as to be prohibited from future growth and expansion as a result of existing or contemplated physical structures. The street system needs to be well co-ordinated with such other things as utilities, public buildings and major business and industrial centers. This, of course, runs us back again into zoning which is where we started.

There is probably no function of city government which touches more parts of our lives than our streets. As cold and impersonal as they may seem in a physical sense, they are a vital and integral part of our society. To understand it a little better, just imagine, if you can, a city such as Lincoln suddenly becoming completely immobile.

Governors Plan Compact

The seeds of a permanent regional governors' conference were planted at the national Governors' Conference in Hershey, Pa. The idea grew from a meeting of mid-western governors called specifically to discuss the problems of higher education. And it is in this area that the greatest benefit could come from a compact between states.

In agriculture, stream pollution control, law enforcement and many other areas, the states could also work together for the mutual advantage of all. In education, however, the problems are more acute than in any other field. Our educational system today represents the greatest duplication of facilities that has ever been known. Each state spends millions and millions of dollars a year to keep their college and university institutions up to good competitive levels.

Travel Improvement

Travelers who make airplane reservations and then fail to show up have been a plague on the house of air travel. It has also spawned distasteful practices on the part of the airlines, such as granting reservations which cannot be honored because of an overfilled passenger list.

Recently some of the major airlines introduced an innovation. They established penalties for "no-shows" while tightening up their own accommodations to make sure that all the show-ups could count on a seat. The change went into effect the first of May. Now enough experience has been had to term the change an improvement. During that month the American Airlines experienced a drop in the no-shows from 62,720 to 42,643 — a cut of 32 per cent. The Nine years ago a Madison, Wisconsin, attorney drove his car into a parking lot and left it to attend a nearby political meeting. Immediately afterward he loitered with friends for a while. When he finally returned to the lot for his car the place was closed. His car keys had been taken by the proprietor. The next morning the attorney returned for his car, but was told he owed an additional one dollar for overnight parking. The attorney had not seen the sign that said the lot closed at 9:30 p.m.

Buildup Suggests Gen. Mao Slipping

WASHINGTON—Here are the highlights of diplomatic and intelligence dispatches which have worried the White House regarding the Chinese communist buildup opposite the Formosa Strait. The buildup was ordered by Chairman Mao Tse-tung personally, perhaps as the last desperate act of a leader slipping from power. Inside sources claim that Mao personally wrote the long, shrill warning put out by the Chinese communist news agency but attributed to an unnamed correspondent. The language of the dispatch was almost hysterical, flailing the United States and warning Chiang Kai-shek not to try coming back to the mainland.

Some observers believe Mao is putting on this military show in an attempt to divert his red rivals who blame him for China's food shortages and would like to oust him from power. They are reportedly ready to retire him to an honorary post at the forthcoming Ninth Party Congress. Moscow Report — From U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson in Moscow comes a cautious report that the Chinese communists may not be able to count upon their Russian comrades to back them in any military venture over the Formosa Strait. Thompson claims that the Russians, far from helping to relieve Red China's economic distress, have actually withheld grain shipments and pressed the Chinese for payment of old Korean war debts.

Ambassador Thompson has also claimed that Russia not only offered India two squadrons of super-sonic jet fighters to counteract the Chinese border threat, but actually approved the airlift of 25,000 troops to the high Himalayan border. They even flew in Soviet-made helicopters.

Formosa Report — Chiang Kai-shek has pleaded with American authorities that widespread unrest makes Red China ripe for revolt, and that an invasion must be attempted this year if the communists are ever to be thrown out of China.

Chiang has enough landing craft to move one full division without American help. Earlier this year he begged for permission to send a division ashore on a massive commando raid against the mainland, to see whether the populace would be encouraged to rise up against their communist masters. However, Kennedy decided the project was too risky.

Now Chiang has threatened to land a division on the mainland without American approval. Kennedy has warned him very sharply, however, not to try it.

Pearl Harbor Report — Adm. Harry Felt, our Pacific commander, has assured President Kennedy that the Navy can repulse any military move by the Chinese communists in the Formosa Strait. He has also contradicted published reports that the Red buildup appears to be defensive. The admiral claims, on the contrary, that the movement of troops and their deployment suggest that the Reds are definitely planning an offense.

Motto Is Being Added To, Not Deleted From Money

WASHINGTON—It is time to lay at rest a bugaboo that is haunting the nation.

The White House has been flooded with thousands of letters protesting this bogey, which is now in danger of being magnified out of all proportion, because of the understandable wave of indignation at the Supreme Court ruling outlawing prayer in public schools.

The ghost to be laid is this: Well-meaning Americans from coast to coast are spreading a mistaken report that someone in the administration is sneakily eliminating the motto, "In God We Trust," from dollar bills.

Brows are creased in honest consternation. As if we did not have enough to worry about with Red China, Russia, the Berlin wall, Laos and the Formosa Straits, now we seem to be confronted with an enemy within, who seeks to write off God on our currency.

Look at the dollar bills in your own pocket. The chances are that you have some with the motto, and one or two without it. There is good reason for both.

The truth is that the Treasury Department has been gradually adding the motto to all dollar bills since 1957, in accordance with Public Law 140 passed by the 84th Congress seven years ago.

The bill directed that the motto be imprinted on all coins, and also on all paper currency as rapidly as modernizing operations could be put into effect, new dies engraved and printing plates replaced.

JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

To Your Good Health

"Dear Dr. Molner: My two-year-old son has eczema on his cheeks. Could plastic toys, dishes and pants irritate this condition?—Mrs. E.H."

Do you mean irritate or do you mean cause?

Eczema is actually a pretty broad term, meaning any number of varieties of breaking-out. In babies, such a rash on the face is most likely what we call atopic dermatitis — a rash caused by the baby coming in contact with something to which he is sensitive.

Infants, some food or other may be the cause, and oddly enough some of the most healthful foods, including wheat, milk and eggs, are fairly often found to be the culprits.

Wool and fur are two other common causes, and for quite some time plastics have been known to "trigger" eczema.

Later in life, emotional tension comes more and more into the picture in atopic dermatitis, which makes the problem much more complex, of course.

However, a good many children outgrow this problem, although they may be around the age of 20 before it disappears.

In any event, eczema fluctuates a great deal. That is why some people buy a patent medicine, happen to apply it when the rash is subsiding, and are thereupon zealously convinced that they discovered a cure. Others, who may happen to try the same medicine just when the rash is ready to get worse, claim it's a nostrum. The patent-medicine "cures" of eczema, therefore, are praised by some, berated by others, and don't, in my opinion, have much effect of any significance.

The one thing that really helps is finding out what is causing the eczema — and then making sure that the baby doesn't come in contact with it any more. If the eczema is really severe, the best bet is to have a skin specialist (dermatologist) tackle it. And don't expect quick results. It takes time.

However, eczema isn't contagious. It isn't something to worry about. The child's comfort is the really important aspect, if the rash itches. If it doesn't — appearance is all that matters much.

I will, however, add these tips: guard such children from people with cold sores, as that may accentuate the trouble; avoid having a vaccination when his rash is active, because that (among other things) can intensify the trouble.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is there a drug that will stop the tobacco habit? Or a special diet that will cure cigarette smoking?—B. B. (Age 24.)"

There is no drug or diet that will supplant good old will power — and for whatever reason, it is younger people who for the most part seek so hard for some "easy" way of doing things that can best be done the hard way.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I neglected to keep up my exercises after my last baby was born and now I have quite a tummy. Is it too late to start now?—M. C. K."

No, it's not too late. Bending, twisting at the hips, lying on your back and raising first one leg and then the other, keeping the leg straight, push-ups, and the like, all will help the abdomen and hips. Good posture and a good girdle will help, too. And weight reduction, in case you are too heavy.

"Dear Dr. Molner: How long can a person live on just creamed coffee and cigarettes? A woman in our neighborhood claims it won't hurt you because the coffee stimulates, the cream provides food and cigarettes can be pleasing.—Mrs. M. B."

I guess you could last quite awhile — but you'd wind up with scurvy, bad nerves and a terrible yearning for some solid food. The idea is utter hogwash.

"Dear Dr. Molner: When I lie on my right side I am distressed by either the liver or gall bladder. However, after lying on my left side for some time, I can return to the right and be comfortable. Is this something to be alarmed about?—S. A."

I doubt whether liver or gall bladder has anything to do with it — either, if enlarged or tender, would bother you on both sides. Instead, I would suspect tension, or some moderate muscular stress, or both. I don't suppose you'll believe me, though, so why don't you go to your doctor and let him run a test or two to exonerate your liver and gall bladder?

Dr. Molner welcomes all readers' mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Romney Typifies New 'Power Centers'

DETROIT—When President Kennedy campaigned so hard in this state in 1960, he talked again and again about the high rate of unemployment and the need to get moving again. That intensive effort paid off, for he carried Michigan by 66,000 votes out of more than 3,300,000 cast.

The unemployment rate has dropped from an average of 11.1 per cent last year to the current 6.5. But with the total labor force in the state failing to grow during the past four or five years, there is a feeling that the promises of '60 are still in the realm of hope deferred and hope deferred is not a happy component for an election year.

This feeling has been accentuated by a study recently released by the Department of Defense on "The Changing Patterns of Defense Procurement." This shows that while Michigan had 9.5 per cent of military prime contracts during the Korean War, the state had only 2.7 per cent of the much smaller total in 1961. The contrast for the whole Middle West is equally striking. Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Wisconsin combined had 17.8 during Korea and only 9.1 during the 1961 fiscal year.

The study also showed that research and development contracts farmed out to universities and other nonprofit organizations are largely concentrated on two coasts, Massachusetts alone had $119,000,000 in such contracts, California $38,000,000 and Maryland $45,000,000. Michigan's total was $14,000,000. And out of these projects come industrial developments that tend to locate around the center of origin.

The challenge in the election this fall is very likely to come from the Republican side of the fence, and the principal challenger will be George Romney, the Republican candidate for governor. Romney, a casting office's dream for "how to succeed in politics by really trying hard," has been called the invention of a few shrewd publicists. But he is a hero to many elements in this state if only because he did the seemingly impossible by introducing the first compact car and pulling American Motors up from nothing to 6.8 per cent of the industry total this year.

In testimony before the Kefauver Anti-Monopoly Subcommittee in 1958, Romney condemned both big unions and the giants of the auto industry. He advocated a law that would require both Ford and General Motors to break up into smaller units with a guarantee of a minimum of five companies in the industry. He would have industrywide bargaining outlawed.

With this condemnation of bigness on both sides of the bargaining table, Romney has capitalized on a sense of frustration that is part of the mood of the state and the industry that has so long dominated it. The appeal he makes resembles the line that Nelson Rockefeller worked successfully in New York four years ago — reforms must come if business is to have an opportunity to grow. He worked intensively through a constitutional convention to modernize Michigan's horse-and-buggy constitution. But, compromising with the old guard Republicans, he came out with a proposed charter that is still likely to mean stalemate in state government.

On the two sides of the industrial bargaining table, industry and labor keep on repeating what they have long been saying. General Motors can show that hourly wages have increased 208 per cent since 1940, going from 91 cents to $2.80. That does not take in fringe benefits which, according to GM, went from eight cents to 72 cents an hour in the same period. U.S. wages are said to be three times higher than the pay for similar work in Germany.

The United Auto Workers can show that in 1960 when the average manufacturing corporation had a 9.5 per cent return on investment, GM's $959,000,000 profit represented a 17.9 per cent return. Ford's $428,000,000 after tax profit was a return of 16.4 per cent. For the whole 15-year postwar period, 1947-61, according to Walter Reuther's annual report to his union, GM made almost $11 billion in profits after taxes, which was equivalent to a 21.4 per cent annual return.

In a kind of dialogue of the deaf that has persisted throughout the postwar years, the two sides have been endlessly saying just this—from industry, "Wages are too high;" from labor, "prices and profits are too high." But, even if one or both were right, what could be done about it through the intervention of government, in the present political situation, is far from clear. It is inconceivable that President Kennedy would call for a reduction of the wage level. And Congress would never sanction any punitive action against the profits of industry, however large they have been shown to be.

While they will give him their all in the coming election, Romney is in a sense a counterpoise to the auto giants. In the same way, Detroit's new, aggressive, 34-year-old mayor, Jerome P. Cavanagh, elected over the opposition of the UAW, is a counterpoise to big labor. He has begun to solve Detroit's financial problems and he has named men who are taking creative and constructive steps to meet this sprawling city's vast problems. So it may be that new centers of power are forming and out of a new and imaginative approach may come a solution for the long shadow of chronic unemployment.

Dr. George Lawton—A Pioneer In Gerontology

By ROBERT PETERSON

One of the very real pioneers in gerontology—the study of aging and retirement—was the late Dr. George Lawton. I first met him at New York University in 1946 where he was offering the first course in gerontology to be offered anywhere. The course didn't look very exciting when I saw it listed in the university catalog, but there was something intriguing about the idea of studying how to grow old successfully.

I enrolled for the course and began attending classes. Dr. Lawton seemed neither striking nor colorful. Rather short and hawk-faced, he appeared to be just another instructor. Within a few weeks, however, he began taking on a luster—a special quality of force and compassion which gave him an impressive stature in the eyes of his students. He was, we learned, a practicing psychologist whose awareness of the needs of senior citizens stemmed from his work with older patients who had come to him convinced that the later years offered only gloom and doom.

With logic and persuasiveness he was able to open minds to a new perception of old age and its almost limitless possibilities.

Many credit him with having been the first to awaken large segments of the population to the importance of viewing the later years as a productive, exciting period of life. He authored two of the early books in the field, wrote frequent articles for magazines and scientific journals, consulted with industrial firms which were setting up retirement programs, appeared on dozens of panel shows, served as consultant to the Life Begins at 80 television series, and lectured from coast to coast.

After creating that original course in gerontology, he subsequently taught many similar courses, and dozens of his students—including yours truly—were fired with the desire to spread the gospel of gerontology.

"Wear your years as a badge of honor!" is an injunction I first heard from his lips. He frowned on the prevalent tendency of hiding one's age as if it were a mark of shame. He also frowned on the expression "Growing Old Gracefully"—contending that it implied a quiet withdrawal from youthful pursuits. He advocated instead a philosophy of "Growing Old Actively," in which oldsters were encouraged to pursue whatever interested them, whether it be attending medical school, taking flying lessons, getting married, or learning to rum-ba.

Strange that a man so vitally concerned with longevity should have been snatched from life four years ago at the age of 57. His assassin was a defective heart which couldn't be mended. He underwent surgery which gave him a few precious months in which to enjoy a trip abroad and write another book. Then he passed quietly on. But he will be remembered.

If you would like a booklet "Basic Health Rules for Older People," write to this column in care of The Lincoln Star enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope and 10c to cover handling costs.

APIS MELLIFERA GAINS FAME

Washington (UPI)—Until recently it was believed that Apis Mellifera was the only species of honey bees which carried Acarine disease, caused by the Acarapis Woodi Rennie mite.

Today, it would be hard to find a member of Congress concerned with sugar legislation who would be so naive.

The honey bee mite now is part of a mighty big fight over an estimated $15 million worth of sugar imports.

An obscure, innocent appearing house bill to limit the importation of adult honey bees has been pushed into the thick of the melee.

It all came about when some Latin American countries complained bitterly that the compromise sugar extension act passed by Congress Monday failed to give them a large enough share of the rich U.S. sugar market.

The Kennedy administration hastily cast about and lighted on the little house bee bill as the device for calming the diplomatic waters.

It was reminiscent of the Senate's struggle in 1960 when a major civil rights package was offered as a substitute for a minor bill authorizing federal aid for the Stella, Mo., reorganized school district. The Stella bill never made it when the rights package was defeated. The fate of the honey bees remains in doubt.

After a series of weekend conferences involving the White House, State and Agriculture Departments and congressional leaders, a plan was devised to put 150,000 tons of sugar in reserve.

The proposal would permit President Kennedy to allocate this sugar at his discretion to those South American countries who felt they were short-changed on quotas in the sugar extension act. The United States would purchase the sugar at premium prices.

Timetable Proposed For Air Problems

Washington (UPI)—One of the nation's leading aviation experts has proposed setting up a timetable for solving air safety problems.

Jerome Lederer, director of the privately-financed Flight Safety Foundation, made the suggestion recently when he was presented with the annual Daniel Guggenheim Medal for contributions to air safety.

Lederer's response to the honor was a fervent plea for a major government-industry crusade to make flying safer. He acknowledged that the scheduled airlines' safety record was good.

But he also pointed out what would happen if today's fatality rate stayed about the same for the next 40 years while traffic continued to increase at the present rate.

The result by the year 2000 would be a major crash every other day, and total fatalities of 10,000 in that year.

Lederer suggested this timetable for reducing the causes of airliner crashes: ("Minor" refers to almost total elimination, "relief" to partial elimination and "important" to an as yet unsolvable problem.)

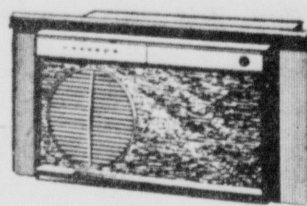

Areas For Concern	1962	1970	1980
Weather enroute	minor	minor	minor
Approaches and landings	important	important	relief
Turbulence	important	important	relief
Crash survival	important	important	relief
Collision	important	important	relief
Stalls	important	important	relief

By this timetable, Lederer indicated he considers clear air and thunderstorm turbulence as the toughest air safety problems ahead.

U.S. Readies Dominican Sugar Aid

Washington (AP) — The United States is preparing to offer the Dominican Republic special aid following passage of new U.S. sugar legislation affecting the economy of the one-crop Caribbean land.

The purpose of the special assistance, which may be announced Thursday is partly financial but to a large degree political.

For Kennedy administration strategists see the Dominican Republic's future as a prime example for all of Latin America in how the democratic way will stack up against the Castro communism of neighboring Cuba.

Tide Country Over
Santo Domingo is now ruled by a 7-man council of state which took over last January, ending a generation of dictatorship established by the late Rafael L. Trujillo Molina which left the public coffers bare. The United States wants to help tide the new regime over until at least the end of the year when elections are scheduled.

With the help of $25 million in Alliance For Progress loans and large premium price U.S. sugar purchases diverted from Cuba, the Dominican economy was judged to have done reasonably well during the first half of this year. But a new element entered the picture with congressional passage of revamped sugar legislation this week.

The prospective new American sugar law would assign the Dominican Republic a yearly quota of 190,000 tons. With the Cuban windfall, the Dominicans had been selling at the rate of about 950,000 tons. A U.S. sugar quota means extra money in the pockets of foreign sellers because the American purchase price currently stands at $108.70 a ton, compared with a world market price of $56.

Let-Down From Uncle

The Dominicans have complained bitterly that Uncle Sam is letting them down. Despite past Washington declarations that the Cuban windfall would be only temporary, the Santo Domingo planners proceeded on the assumption they would receive some $100 million in sugar sales to the United States this year at a continued 950,000-ton rate.

Without the U.S. sales, the Dominicans cannot dispose of their sugar at a profit because their estimated production cost is $80 a ton, considerably above the world price.

Some sugar relief for the Dominicans may be forthcoming from a special amendment slated to come before the Senate Thursday. Beyond this, administration officials are devising various possible forms of special aid — including an outright money gift to the Dominican government budget — to help stave off a financial crisis.

Informed sources said the exact amount of special U.S. assistance and the form it will take are still in the process of determination. Estimates of Dominican need have ranged widely from $20 million on up. Precise calculations are hard to come by in the complex and changing situation.

One aim of U.S. experts generally is to diversify the Dominican economy, 70% of whose outside income is said to depend on sugar now.

Ships Diverted

New Delhi (AP) — In a goodwill gesture to rival Pakistan, Prime Minister Nehru ordered two ships bringing U.S. wheat to India to be diverted to East Pakistan to relieve a food shortage there.

New NU Dean Of Students Takes Over

The new dean of student affairs, Dr. G. Robert Ross, assumed his position at the University of Nebraska this week.

Formerly dean at Ball State Teachers College in Muncie, Ind., Dr. Ross said he was fortunate to have the next few weeks to learn more about his job before school opens this fall.

The 34-year-old native of Texas succeeds J. P. Colbert, whose retirement from administrative duties was mandatory because of the 65-year age limit. Dean Colbert will teach classes next fall in the College of Engineering and Architecture.

Dean Ross said he was impressed with the university and the state of Nebraska.

"People have been extremely cordial," he added.

Dean Ross will supervise general relationships between students and the university. This includes direction of Junior Division and Counseling Service, Examination Service, and Scholarships and Financial Aids. Subdivisions of the Student Affairs office include housing, discipline, records, foreign students, and placement service.

Taipei, Formosa (AP) — Gen. Liu An-Chi, commander in chief of the Chinese Nationalist Army, inspected the defenses of the island fortress of Quemoy and expressed confidence the Chinese Communists would be crushed if they attacked.

Man Overcome Inhaling Smoke At Grand Island

Grand Island (UPI) — An elderly man who lives alone on a farm west of here was listed in good condition Wednesday night at a hospital with effects of smoke inhalation.

Firemen believe the home of Ed Hall, who is in his 80s, was struck by lightning during a violent storm which hit this area between 2 a.m. and 3 a.m.

Hall told officers he was awakened by smoke in the house and went outside to find the home in flames. He said he feared that his car might be damaged so he drove it out into a pasture and parked it.

On the way back toward the house, he collapsed just inside a barn.

Several hours later neighbors saw the Hall home burning and notified the fire department. Firemen were unable to save the house, but on checking the barn, found Hall. He was rushed to a hospital and treated for smoke inhalation.

Havana Radio, TV Claim Spy Flights

... FLOWN BY U.S.

Key West, Fla. (AP) — Havana radio and television broadcasts charged Wednesday that two U.S. planes flew over Cuban territory on spy missions at altitudes of 500 feet early Tuesday.

The alleged flights brought to 14 the number of violations of Cuban air space claimed by the Castro regime this week.

A communique from the Cuban Armed Forces Ministry said a grey Catalina flew within a mile of Guanaabo Beach and disappeared in an easterly direction. The beach is 13 miles east of Havana.

From U.S.

The other plane, said the communique, came from the United States, made a turn over Cayo Largo and flew off to the south. Cayo Largo is an island about 23 miles south of the Bay of Pigs on Cuba's southern coast.

"Espionage missions and acts of air piracy and provocation of Yankee planes have multiplied in the last few days," the Armed Forces Ministry said.

Havana radio claimed Sunday that 9 espionage flights had occurred in recent days. Tuesday, Cuban broadcasts said there had been 3 more flights in the preceding 48 hours.

Clear Of Cuba

Commenting on the earlier claims, the U.S. State Department denied any such flights had taken place and said American pilots have strict instructions to stay clear of Cuba.

A television commentator scoffed at the denial Wednesday and said there were photographs proving the air space violations. The photographs were not shown to TV viewers, however.

The same commentator suggested some of the flights might have been made by U.S. hurricane hunting planes.

Brazilian Prime Minister Resigns After 36 Hours

... ANOTHER CRISIS HITS GOVERNMENT

Brasilia, Brazil (AP)—Prime Minister Auro de Moura Andrade resigned Wednesday night after 36 hours in office and Brazil was plunged into its second government crisis in 8 days.

Andrade's resignation was announced by President Joao Goulart's office. A communiqué said the Senate conservative leader quit because he found it impossible to form a cabinet. The president and the prime minister had been reported deadlocked over a choice of Navy and Air Force ministers.

Gen. Osvaldo Ferreira Alves, commander of the 1st Army, earlier ordered his troops in Rio de Janeiro on alert "in view of the grave situation we face."

A Warning
The move was considered a warning to restive high ranking Navy and Air Force officers not to mix in the worsening political situation.

The government news agency said the 2nd Army in Sao Paulo and the 3rd Army in Porto Alegre supported Gen. Alves' determination to "maintain order and preserve democratic institutions."

Besides political troubles, Brazil also faces a major economic crisis that was indirectly responsible for food shortage rioting at Niteroi Monday night.

The latest political crisis began when Prime Minister Tancredo Neves' government resigned June 26 so members could qualify under the constitution for the October congressional elections. Certain high appointive officials are barred from seeking political office.

First Choice
Goulart first picked ex-Foreign Minister Francisco San Tiago Dantas to form a new government. Conservative forces, including Andrade's Social Democratic party, blocked the nomination of Dantas, a member of Goulart's left of center Brazilian Labor party.

In addition to the conservative-left of center tug-of-war, there is also conflict between Goulart and segments of Congress over whether the legislative or executive branch of government should be paramount.

Under the constitution Goulart has 3 days to submit a new name for approval by the chamber. If no new prime minister is named or if the chamber rejects 3 successive nominees, the Senate can name its own choice.

Subject To Veto
Andrade was approved as prime minister 222-51 by the Chamber of Deputies, but his selection of cabinet members was subject to presidential veto.

The 46-year-old Senate leader promised a vigorous campaign against economic ills before he won endorsement. Inflation and fear of political unrest have dropped the cruzeiro from 230 to the U.S. dollar in 1961 to 440 to 1 earlier this week.

Ex-Con With Temper Terrorizes Iowa Girl

Maquoketa, Iowa (UPI)—Blonde, pigtailed Sheri Batey, 9, Wednesday told authorities of more than 24 terror-ridden hours spent with a mean-tempered ex-convict after seeing him batter her grandmother over the head with a chair.

Sheri, frightened but unmolested after her ordeal, slowly began piecing together an account of the savage attack that sent her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Vincent Batey, to a hospital with serious injuries and led to her abduction by ex-convict Donald Kinyon, 27, of Maquoketa.

She was in a car with Kinyon when the strapping 6-1, 185-pound parolee was captured as he drove along Iowa 62 about 10 miles north of Maquoketa.

Kinyon has stubbornly refused to answer questions fired by weary investigators. Sheriff Clarence Hinke Jr. said he even refused to respond when asked his birthdate Tuesday night and was equally silent Wednesday.

Sheri 'Not Raped'
Although Kinyon has a record of molesting young girls and was paroled to the Bateys after serving part of a 7-year term for statutory rape, authorities said Sheri had "definitely not been raped."

Jackson County Atty. Asher Schroeder said she was unharmed "except for some mosquito bites."

Before being released to her father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Batey of Bettendorf, Sheri told of seeing Kinyon strike her grandmother, Mabel Batey, 63, twice with a chair.

However, she did not recall seeing Kinyon bludgeon her 60-year-old grandfather, Schroeder said.

'Definitely Afraid'
She said she was "definitely afraid" throughout the more than 24 hours she spent with Kinyon although she was not harmed, the county attorney said.

While a massive air and ground search was conducted by more than 300 volunteers, Kinyon took the girl into hilly, wooded remote areas north of here, she told officers.

"She told of leaving the car hidden in a grove of trees and wandering through timber, brush, pastures and farm fields," Schroeder said.

They returned to the car Tuesday night and started driving south toward Andrew. About two miles north of that community, Sheriff Hinke met the Batey car, swung around and forced Kinyon to a halt.

Hospitals' Pink Ladies Brighten Patients' Days

I'm yours while you're here and home with you I'll go. Like a new sort of playmate and friend, you know. I may be quite small to call me a gal.

Traitor Salan Mum On OAS Men In Letter

Paris (AP)—Former Gen. Raoul Salan Wednesday refused to identify members of the Secret Army that he had referred to in a letter sent from his prison cell. He also declined to explain how the letter got out of prison.
Examining Magistrate Jean Perez went to Fresnes prison to question the former Secret Army chief, who is under a life sentence for treason, about the letter. Perez is conducting the inquiry into new charges that Salan had contacts with members of the terror group after his arrest last spring.
The new charges could bring a second trial and the death sentence.
In the letter, Salan asked "Cimetre, the treasurer" to transfer 100 million francs ($200,000) "to the one who is replacing me now" at the head of the Secret Army. He also said 100 million francs should be remitted to "Captain B..." and that "Auvergnat" would aid with the transfers.
It was reported that Salan admitted writing the letter.

been delighted by this verse, accompanying a new clown or doll-faced puppet presented by the Pink Ladies of Lincoln General Hospital?
According to the record, about 800 such gifts have brought a smile to a small child in the pediatrics ward, or about 25 per week. And on July 15 the Women's Service League of Bryan Memorial Hospital will join in giving "Pinkies."
One Of Many
Though perhaps one of their more enjoyable duties, this is only one of the myriad undertakings of the women's volunteer groups in the Lincoln hospitals. The things they do and have done can be described in a negative fashion by imagining what it would be like if they suddenly disappeared from the hospitals they serve.
First, the nurses, doctors, and other professional people would suddenly find themselves encumbered with a multitude of extra duties and have much less time to devote to the patients. Many a nurse would frequently find herself sorting mail or distributing flowers sent by friends and neglecting the work she's been trained for.
Communications and the resultant understanding between the hospital and the community would substantially decline. Mr. J. Q. Public's knowledge of the hospital and its routine would come from former patients whose opinions might reflect the operation they just underwent.
Improvements in the hospital building and facilities might never be considered; the hospital couldn't afford them because of its medical and employee costs.
Cheerful Spirit
But what would be missed most of all would be the ladies themselves. The cheerful spirit of each makes life a little more gay for patients and employees alike.

On Mother's Day the new mothers in Lincoln General would miss the corsage which they receive "from their youngest child."
Patients who are bedridden would have no one to read to them, talk to them, or write their letters for them. The amount of laboratory work modern technology demands leaves no time for a nurse to do this.
And who would read to the children, draw for them, and otherwise entertain them when the playroom is opened at Bryan Memorial the middle of this month?
All around the hospital they and the junior organization, the Candy Strippers, would be missed. Who would serve as hostesses, push the nourishment carts, help in the coffee shop, and manage the gift shop?
Taken all together, women volunteers put in at least 5,000 hours of work at local hospitals each month.
Can't Be Measured
Their work can't be measured in dollars, but if they were paid just the $1.15 an hour federal minimum wage, their services would cost Lincoln hospitals $69,000 a year.
The Veterans Administration Hospital benefits most, with about 300 volunteers from some 29 organizations—many of them veteran group auxiliaries—putting in 2,000-2,500 woman-hours per month.
The Pink Ladies and the Candy Strippers of Lincoln General together accumulate about 1,850 hours monthly; the Auxiliary and the Gray Ladies of St. Elizabeth's, about 360 hours; and the Service Leagues and Candy Strippers of Bryan Memorial, 700-800 hours. Also, volunteer organizations as the Women's Board of Bryan Memorial put in a considerable amount of uncounted time.

ON THEIR ROUNDS . . . Candy Striper Carolyn Chapin and Pink Lady Mrs. James L. Way at Lincoln General Hospital.

Austria Defies Nikita On Market

By REINHOLD G. ENSZ
Moscow (AP)—Austria Wednesday defiantly notified Premier Khrushchev it will open negotiations in Brussels July 28 for affiliation with the European Common Market.
Khrushchev has led the fight to keep Austria out of the Western European economic community, but apparently his long talks here with Chancellor Alfons Gorbach have not dented the doughty Austrian.
The decision was disclosed by Austrian sources after foreign minister Bruno Krepsky of Austria and his aides conferred with Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and Gorbach gave a luncheon for Khrushchev.
"The Russians have been told we will definitely go to Brussels on the 28th to talk about an arrangement with the Common Market," an Austrian spokesman said. "The Russians did not reply to this. They did not say you can do this or that. They simply dropped the subject."
Khrushchev declared in speeches Wednesday and previously that the Soviet Union opposes the Common Market and would regard Austrian membership as a violation of Austrian neutrality. The Austrians countered by saying they want only affiliation not membership.

Speaking at a Kremlin reception for Gorbach, Khrushchev again denounced the Common Market as the economic base of "aggressive NATO" the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.
Khrushchev said Gorbach had assured him Austria intends to preserve its neutrality. This assurance, Khrushchev said, is appreciated by the Soviet Union. He did not say affiliation with the market would be a violation of neutrality.

Honolulu (AP)—The United States is ready for a 3rd attempt at exploding its biggest nuclear test blast in the Pacific series Thursday night above Johnston Island.
The gigantic blast attempt, which could be one of the final shots in the series, follows two failures last month at the Pacific test site.
Joint Task Force 8 on Tuesday delayed the shot for 24 hours. There was no explanation. The test originally had been set for Wednesday night.
Detonation is scheduled for sometime between 11 p.m. HST (3 a.m. CST Friday) and 2:30 a.m. HST Friday (6:30 a.m. CST).
The blast is expected to light up the Pacific with a flash visible as far away as Hawaii, 750 miles northeast of the tiny test island.
Official announcements

U.S. Ready To Try Again For Big Blast

have reported a nuclear device of "megaton-plus" range—more powerful than one million tons of TNT—will be exploded at an altitude of "hundreds of kilometers." The detonation probably will take place 200 miles above the island—the highest shot in the series.
Test officials have not said what type of missile will be used to boost the nuclear package aloft. Thor missiles were used in the two failures, on June 4 and June 19.

Formosa Says No Invading Without Consulting America

... KENNEDY 'ASSURED' ABOUT RED MAINLAND

Taipei, Formosa (UPI) — High Nationalist defense officials said Wednesday that Nationalist China does not intend to launch an invasion of the Chinese mainland without consulting the United States.

The statement made it appear likely that similar assurances have been given to President Kennedy. There have been fears in the United States that the Nationalists would take the initiative in launching an invasion of the communist-held mainland.

A 1954 treaty between the United States and Nationalist China calls for mutual consultations before any major military move by either power.

Both Chiang and Nationalist Premier Chen Chaeng have said recently that an attack on Communist China would "come at any time." But one high-ranking defense official said his government would not attack the mainland unless it was convinced there was popular support for such a move among the people in Red China.

A United Press International dispatch from Quemoy, meanwhile, reported that the bustling activity of communist soldiers on mainland beaches opposite the island fortress came to an abrupt end 6 days ago, and an uneasy lull has prevailed since. Nationalist officers on Quemoy said the mysterious lull followed a communist artillery exercise in the direction of Quemoy June 29.

Swarms of communist soldiers who had been observed hard at work strengthening fortifications near the shore during the past month suddenly picked up their tools and disappeared, briefing officers said. Also silent, they said, were many of the communist loudspeakers that blared propaganda night and day until a week ago.

Deadly Stillness

Garrison officers recalled that the same kind of deadly stillness had prevailed in the past just before intensive communist artillery bombardments.

In Taipei, a high Nationalist defense force officer said Nationalist planes have been flying "very deeply" into the airspace over the Red China mainland for several years and dropping leaflets to "give the communists a bad headache."

The officer said the flights occurred only "occasionally" but covered a "wide area" of the China mainland.

He said leaflets dropped from the planes contained not only propaganda messages but also served as "safe conduct passes" for Chinese fleeing the Red regime to join their former government now in exile on Formosa.

Pacifists Slip Out To Sea Toward Tests

San Francisco (AP) — Three pacifists, protesting nuclear testing in the South Pacific by the United States, slipped out through the Golden Gate on the 1 a.m. tide Wednesday, in a 30-foot sailboat and headed for the test area 2,500 miles away.

Ten hours later a Coast Guard plane spotted them, becalmed, 28 miles off the coast.

The 3 were aboard Everyman I, a trimaran built of plywood. A trimaran has 3 parallel hulls.

Everyman I had been berthed at Sausalito, across the bay from San Francisco, since a U.S. District Court order was issued forbidding its crew to sail into the testing areas around Johnston and Christmas Islands.

A spokesman for the committee for non-violent action, which sponsored Everyman's voyage, identified the 3 aboard as Walter Chaffee, 39, of San Luis Obispo, the skipper, who is an instructor at California Polytechnic College; Bob Robbins, 36, navigator, of San Francisco, a picture framer, and Barton Stone, 24, San Francisco carpenter.

Food For 30 Days

They had food for 30 days and water for 40 days. This, said the committee spokesman, would be sufficient to get them inside the nuclear test area, but not enough to get them out.

The 3 estimated they would reach their destination in 20 days.

The Pacific tests should be concluded well before then, however.

The gigantic high altitude test set for Thursday night could be one of the final shots in the series—if it succeeds.

The Coast Guard didn't take any other action, pending word from U.S. Attorney Cecil Poole.

Freedom Riders Claim They Were Beaten

Jackson, Miss. (AP) — Two young Negro "Freedom Riders" charged Wednesday they were beaten and threatened with death while serving a 30-day sentence for contempt of court.

Jesse Harris, 20, and Luvagh Brown, 17, both of Jackson, protested "beatings and intimidations" to the Justice Department. Dave Dennis of Jackson, Congress of Racial Equality field secretary, said suits would be filed.

Dennis said Harris and Brown were beaten shortly after Judge Russel Moore cited them for contempt. They had refused to move from a court bench customarily used by whites.

"In the courthouse elevator, a deputy sheriff called Harris 'a damned nigger,' and beat him about the head with his fist," Dennis said.

"At the (county penal) farm they were singled out as Freedom Riders and wore striped uniforms. Both were beaten by guards."

Dennis said Harris was beaten by a guard named "Keith" while other prisoners held him. "He beat him across the back with a length of hose, threatening 'Nigger, I'll kill you,'" Dennis said.

The CORE spokesman said Brown was beaten by guard Douglas Wright. "He was beaten for answering 'What' when not knowing Wright was speaking when he heard his name called," Dennis said. "Wright then pulled a gun and repeatedly challenged Brown to say 'What' again."

Sheriff J. R. (Bob) Gilfoyl of Hinds County was unavailable for comment on the charges.

Wheat Harvest Into High Gear

McCook (UPI) — Bob Rains, manager of the McCook state employment office, said indications are that the wheat harvest would be in full swing by Friday from Furnas to Dundy Counties.

Rains said his prediction included Dundy County on the west and Furnas County on the east, and also included Hitchcock and Red Willow Counties.

He said the 4 counties to the north, from Chase to Gosper, should be harvesting by anywhere from July 12 to July 15.

Rains noted that weather conditions would determine whether his prediction would be accurate or not.

Harvesting crews, meanwhile, were moving into Nebraska from Kansas in fairly large numbers, and officials said there were ample machines now available for cutting.

Californians Are Visitors

In Lincoln from Woodland, Calif., are Mr. and Mrs. William Hein and their three children, three year-old Bruce, Billy, aged 7 — and four year-old Barbara.

Mr. and Mrs. Hein and their family, who arrived from Woodland late in June, are the house guests of Mrs.

Hein's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted E. Barger.

During their stay in Lincoln Mr. and Mrs. Hein have been kept busy with numerous courtesies.

A July bride-elect is Miss Phyllis Irene Hornung, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Hornung, whose marriage to Erwin L. Real, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Real of Mason City, will take place on Friday evening, July 6.

For the wedding, which will take place at the East Lincoln Christian Church, Miss Hornung has named Miss Judy Fournier of Chicago as her maid of honor, and her bridesmaids will be Miss Donna Anderson of Omaha, and Miss Judy Swenson.

Miss Kathleen Hornung, sister of the bride-to-be, will light the candles for the 7:30 o'clock service, and the flower girls will be twin sisters, Miss Sharon Ellis and Miss Karen Ellis.

Serving as best man will be John Newman, and the ushers will be Don Mason and George Miller.

Honoring Miss Hornung Sunday afternoon, June 24, were Mrs. Walt Zezulka and Mrs. Ernest Kouma who were co-hostesses at a miscellaneous shower for the bride-elect.

Also entertaining recently for Miss Hornung were Mrs. Lydia Cox and Mrs. Frank Beeman, who were hostesses at a shower held at the home of Mrs. Beeman.

Announcing plans for a July wedding this morning is Miss Robin Davison-Thimman who will become the bride of Robert Hohn on Sunday, July 22.

For the ceremony, which will be solemnized at 7 o'clock in the evening at the Church of the Holy Trinity, Episcopal, the bride-elect has named her sister, Miss Mary Davison, as her maid of honor, and her bridesmaids will be Miss Laura Barthell, Miss Judi Heggen and Miss Vonda Mohr.

Miss Marcy Thimman will attend her cousin as flower girl, and the ringbearer will be Phillip Hascoll, cousin of Mr. Hohn.

Serving his cousin as best man will be Jon Appleget of Fremont, and the corps of ushers will include Denny Butt, Gary Aden and Bob Lockwood, all of Beatrice;

Duncan Drum, Fremont; Jon Kiser, Columbus; and Ron Harris.

In prenuptial courtesy to the bride-to-be, a shower will be held next Tuesday at King's party room. Hostesses for the informal evening will be Miss Laura Barthell, Miss Jean Althouse, Miss Glenda Sharp, Miss Judi Heggen, Miss Marian Fisher and Miss Vonda Mohr.

A popular July bride-elect who has been honored at numerous courtesies recently is Miss Alice Marie Holm, whose marriage to Edward M. Banning, Jr., will be an event of Saturday, July 28.

Next Sunday afternoon,

Miss Holm will be presented at a party to be given by Mrs. Ray Linch, her daughter, Mrs. John Bottorff, and Mrs. Bottorff's daughter Miss Shirley Bottorff, at the Linch home.

Mrs. Leonard Johnston entertained last Sunday at a miscellaneous shower honoring Miss Holm. Twenty-five guests were invited for a dessert-supper and informal evening at the home of Mrs. Johnston.

Other recent parties for the bride-to-be include the shower for which Mrs. Clarence Carlson and her daughters, Miss Marilyn Carlson and Miss Linda Carlson, were hostesses at their home and the personal shower given by Miss Diana Gatch, Miss Ingrid Sandall and Mrs. James Barrett at the Sandall home.

For the 7:30 o'clock evening ceremony, to be solemnized at the First Methodist Church, Miss Holm has chosen her sister, Miss Nancy Holm, as her maid of honor. Her bridesmaids will be Miss Ingrid Sandall and Miss Judy Umberger, and lighting the chancel candles will be Miss Jayne White and Miss Kathleen White.

Ronald Banning will serve his brother as best man, and seating the guests will be Gordon Bachmann of Ayr, Herb Hanich, Larry Johnston and Everett Madsen.

Suburbia Had A Busy Holiday

COTNER TERRACE

Holidays come and go — but news in suburbia goes right on — to tell of guests — and trips — and parties.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Delmar J. Whitefoot on Sunday, June 28th, were Mrs. Whitefoot's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Kruse of Boelus, and their sons; and her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lowen Kruse of Shelton, and their daughter, Nancy.

The occasion for the family gathering was the 35th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Kruse, who were honored at a dinner at King's restaurant.

In the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Whitefoot entertained the group at a picnic supper before the guests left for their homes.

Then we heard that Mr. and Mrs. Whitefoot also are expecting more guests in the near future. On July 8th, Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Whitefoot, of Boelus, parents of Mr. Whitefoot, and his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Whitefoot of Shelton, and their children, Lori, Camille and Brent, will spend the day in Lincoln.

The special cause for celebration that day will be the 9th birthday of Bruce Whitefoot, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delman Whitefoot, — which will, of course, call for the traditional cake and ice cream.

BERLENE HEIGHTS

On Thursday, June 28th, Mrs. Kermit Mourer, entertained at an evening party and kitchen shower honoring Miss Frances Albers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Albers, whose marriage to Woodrow Denham of Oxford, Miss. will take place on Aug. 14.

Twelve guests were invited.

A weekend at a cabin on Tri Lake, near Columbus, made a pleasant summer interlude for Mr. and Mrs. Donald M. Sundberg and their family the past week end.

During the Friday-to-Sunday holiday Mr. and Mrs. Sundberg were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Mielak and family.

PERSHING HEIGHTS

Business and pleasure were combined when Mr. and Mrs. Claremont Pritchard left for Washington, D.C. early in June. In Washington they attended the meeting of the National Science Foundation, which was held from June 12th through the 16th, and the balance of the month they spent visiting friends and relatives on the east coast, as far north as Boston.

Mrs. Pritchard recently spent several months in South Africa doing research in parasitology.

Yesterday, four Pershing Heights families gathered for a Fourth of July picnic at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Overbeck. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Hermann; Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Hulbert and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Don Westling and their children.

Of course, an important feature of the occasion was the fireworks display.

SUNNYSIDE ACRES

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Behrends of Dobbins Drive are the parents of a son, LeRoy Duane, born on June 26, at St. Elizabeth Hospital. Beside his brother Scott, 4, LeRoy Duane is being welcomed by his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Behrends, and Mr. James Bivens, all of Nebraska City.

A week at Lake of the Ozarks is in store for Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bethel who will leave July 6th for Missouri, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Williams.

They will also visit with Mr. Bethel's mother Mrs. E. R. Bethel at Lebanon, Mo.

Julie and Cindy Bethel, who will go as far as Lebanon with their parents, will remain to visit their grandmother while the adults in the group continue to Lake of the Ozarks — for several days of fishing and boating.

Last Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Glen Martin, and Mr. and Mrs. John Brennan and their families were entertained at a barbecue supper by Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hite.

Then, on Sunday, July 1, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hinrikus, of Wood River, arrived to be the overnight guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Martin.

PARK MANOR

Home from a vacation on the west coast, are Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Ward and their son, Jason.

Enroute to California the Wards stopped at Las Vegas, Nev. and also to see Hoover Dam. Then after visiting relatives in Pomona, Calif., the travelers returned to Lincoln by way of the Grand Canyon, Arizona and the Royal Gorge and Canon City in Colorado.

The trip was a bit of a

And After The Game -- A Swim

To swim, or not to swim, was the question when Miss Mowbray, her brother, Jim Mowbray, and out-of-towners Miss Halle Drake, of Detroit, and Mike Dowell of Omaha went to the Lincoln Country Club early on Fourth of July afternoon. The sun came out — it went away. The clouds came—and went away. So it went, and the members of the young foursome decided to try their skill at a game of cards while awaiting nature's decision.

We suspect that as soon as the game was finished, swim suits were donned and that a good swim completed the afternoon's activities — and created a good appetite for dinner.

Dble.

Opening lead — four of clubs.

The Dizzy Dozen were having their regular Friday night duplicate game. They had asked me over not to play, but to show me how bridge is played in their league.

I got my money's worth on the first board I watched. You couldn't ask for anything more.

East opened two clubs with her respectable hand. The bidding went as shown, with South ending at six spades doubled.

West led a club and East made her ace of spades, but no more. So North-South scored 1,660 points as a result of making six spades doubled.

Of course, East was disappointed by the result, but to add to her woes, West, related by marriage to East, excoriated his better half for failing to have two defensive tricks when she doubled a slam!

When the hand was over, out of curiosity I moved to the next table to see what would happen when the deal was played again. Here, it turned out, the final contract was six clubs, played by East. South led the king of spades and East had a momentary thrill when she saw the dummy and the opening lead. Thirteen tricks looked easy.

However, when East led the ace of clubs and South showed out, her hopes went glimmering. In an effort to make the hand, she cashed another trump and led the ace of diamonds, hoping North had all the missing diamonds. But when North ruffed the first diamond and cashed two hearts, East found herself down two.

At the third table, West, after a lengthy series of complicated bids, became declarer at six diamonds. North decided to lead a spade and West had no trouble making thirteen tricks.

So a slam was made at one table with the North-South cards, and another one at a different table with the East-West cards.

Maybe the bridge played by the Dizzy Dozen isn't entirely up to snuff, but it sure is exciting.

We Hear That

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Thomas and their son, Steven, arrived from Kokomo, Ind., to spend the Fourth as the guests of Mr. Thomas' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Thomas. During their stay in Lincoln the visitors also will visit Mr. Thomas' brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Finley and their sons, Bruce and Jeffery.

A Kiss Can Spoil A Spanking

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I totally disagree on one subject and want you to settle it. When I punish our three-year-old child (usually by a spanking) I leave him for 10 to 30 minutes to ponder what he has done wrong. Then when he comes to me and tells me he is sorry, I forgive him and assure him that I love him.

My husband will spank the child and, while he is still crying from the punishment, he'll pick him up and kiss him and comfort him. He believes that the spanking is the punishment, and it is necessary to assure the child immediately afterwards that he is loved regardless of what he has done. I think this undoes any good done by the punishment. We'd like your opinion.

ONE AGAINST ONE

DEAR ONE: To kiss and comfort a child who is crying as a result of punishment gives the child the impression that perhaps you were wrong in punishing him, and are seeking HIS forgiveness.

DEAR ABBY: Recently you had a letter in your column from a mother who was "disgusted" because her daughter received a corsage made of dog biscuits! Abby, didn't you know that when a girl reaches her 12th birthday she gets a lollipop corsage. On her 14th it's dog biscuits. For her 15th it's life savers, and on her 16th it's sugar cubes.

KATHIE

DEAR KATHIE: I must be the original "cube" because this is all news to me. Thanks for putting me wise. What's 17th, 18th and 19th?

DEAR ABBY: The young man who wondered about having his bread buttered by his lady friend might try this:

For 25 years I have been buttering bread for my husband. When I pass the buttered bread to him he kisses my finger-tips. He claims this is the most exciting part of the meal. I agree. Wouldn't you?

STILL ROMANTIC

DEAR STILL: You bet. It's better than dessert, and not as fattening.

DEAR ABBY: I have a mother who thinks more of her furniture than she does her grandchildren. After all, Abby, they are only babies and do not know the value of things, so you can't blame them for putting their feet on the furniture or wanting to play with her milk glass bric-a-brac. Don't you think she should save me the trouble of having to watch them every minute they are at her home and just put up all her good things until they are old enough to understand?

AGGRAVATED

DEAR AGGRAVATED: Children should be taught at home to keep their feet off the furniture and their hands off the bric-a-brac. Since you obviously didn't, you'll have to discipline them in your mother's home.

DEAR ABBY: I sent you three of my problems and you didn't answer any of them. Why do you claim you answer every letter when you don't?

OFF OF YOU

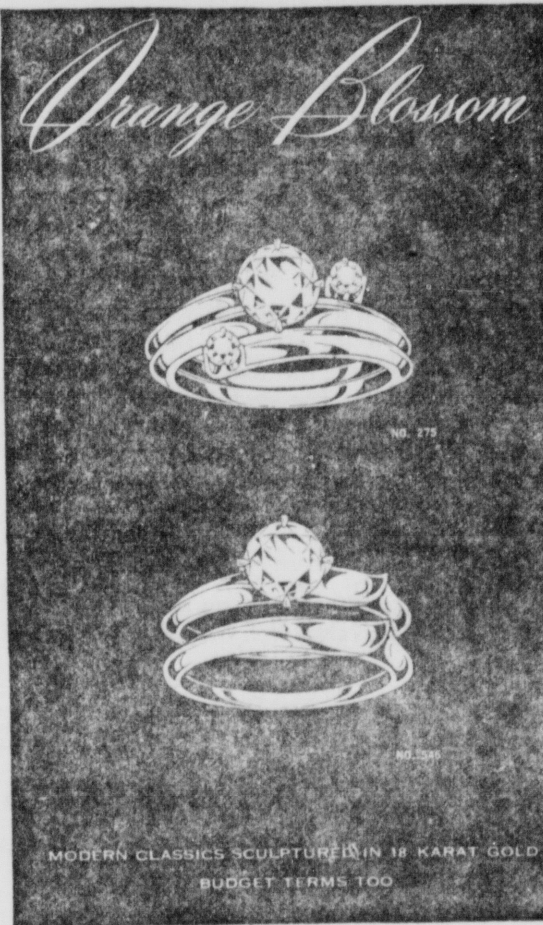

DEAR OFF: It isn't possible to answer every letter in MY COLUMN. Next time, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and you'll get a personal reply.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "STILL WAITING": Give up. He won't call. Why should a man chase a bus if he's already caught it?

How's the world treating you? For a personal unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplaine

A funny thing happened to me on the way to Pompeii. Tour buses run thousands of Americans down to Pompeii which as every schoolboy knows, was buried by the eruption of Mount Vesuvius. It left Italy with a complete Roman city, undiscovered by later contractors who shaved building costs by stripping marble off buildings. But from the tour guide's standpoint, Pompeii's main value is that the antique Via Appia, the main road, has a coral and cameo factory. During the years of increased prosperity, this has grown from a papa-mama carving thing to the size of a super-market. "We will now have a rest stop," says the bus guide.

And his teeth flash splendidly with Latin charm and optimism. For the kickback here, I figure, can't be less than 30 per cent. And heaven smiles on the industrious.

The coral and cameo selling is a highly developed art. Guides and sales girls are multi-lingual. They can do approved discounts in a dozen languages without looking up the amounts in the book. "The carving of cameos dates back to the Caesars, etc., etc.," says the guide. He then points out a few ancient Italians who chop patiently with hand tools (I suspect on the same piece).

After the historical and technical background, the tourist is led briskly into the large salesroom. Nearly everybody unloads. When they see the prices in the competitive shops at Naples, they cry like babies.

The guide usually eats lunch at another place. He is tender-hearted and can't stand to see grown people weep.

The guides of Pompeii are organized in an association. They stand under a sign telling of their professional skill.

It is a marvelous place — the baths are intact, the wine shop has the cups in place.

It could be explored leisurely for several days. But most tourists allot two hours. (Back to the coral and cameo shop, Pietro!)

The guides expect a tip, naturally. And they save the House of the Bachelors for the last.

The bachelors had a kind of rumpus room. The rumpus room was off the kitchen which is an odd location when you come to think of it.

It is walled with pictures which wouldn't pass any censor I can think of. And the guides take you in here (ladies and gentlemen separately), letting you get the impression that — "we don't show these to just anybody, but you look like the right sort."

This is supposed to bring on the right tip. And if it doesn't, the guides weep and scream and point out that they are the sole support of 10 starving children.

In fact, I think the Pompeii guides are the hardest working of any in the world.

The party is then led down to street level. And the people who took the sedan chairs, carried by happy Italians, are sorry they didn't walk.

No matter what the payment, no matter what the tip, the happy Italians get unhappy very fast. They quote the price of food — "give me big tip, I drink bottle of wine in your honor." They wring their hands. They beat their foreheads. (Better they should make a wish on a horse tail.)

At the final exit there are a hundred postcard salesmen selling photo reproductions of the House of the Bachelors' rumpus room.

It's a lively town for being dead these 1900 years.

THE RICHEST ORANGE FLAVOR IS SKIN DEEP...AND THAT'S WHERE TANG GETS ITS NEW NATURAL FLAVOR

Amazing but true: The richest orange flavor is not in the juice, not in the pulp, but locked in the rind of tree-ripened oranges. And that's where TANG gets its new natural flavor. It's the best tasting TANG that ever happened. And TANG—the instant breakfast drink—still gives you more vitamin C than fresh or frozen orange juice...plus important vitamin A.

So, for breakfast tomorrow, mix a decanterful of New Natural Orange Flavor TANG tonight. Serve ice-cold in the morning. By the way, better try New Natural Grapefruit Flavor TANG too. Tart-sweet, very refreshing and a nice change of taste.

GET THE ORIGINAL INSTANT BREAKFAST DRINK

TANG is not a juice or a soft-drink mix, but a nutritious food drink from General Foods.

NAACP Leaders Organize Task Force

Atlanta (AP) — A University president urged Wednesday "an all-out, renewed and relentless struggle" by Negroes for full rights as American citizens.

The educator, Dr. James M. Nabrit Jr. of Howard University in Washington, D.C., said, "I want my rights today — now — all of them."

Nabrit spoke at an Independence Day rally of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, holding its annual convention here.

Shortly before Nabrit's call for "freedom in our time," the intent of his message was translated into action by about 200 NAACP leaders when they approved an intensified program for civil rights in large non-southern cities.

The first 5 target areas for the "task force" program are Chicago, Washington, New York, San Francisco and Detroit.

Downtown Atlanta remained quiet. A few robed Ku Klux Klansmen were scattered along the streets. The NAACP did not picket hotels and restaurants because of a Fourth of July parade in Atlanta. Police advised against it.

Big Rally

In his speech to the big rally at Morehouse College, Nabrit said, "We are here committing ourselves to an all-out, renewed and relentless struggle for all of our rights as American citizens."

"What the Western World fought and died for is now unfashionable to even assert—that is, for colored people to assert," Nabrit said.

"Voting was synonymous with liberty in 1776. And I tell you it is liberty in 1962."

"The white man offers us gratuities when we seek dividends . . . contempt when we seek justice . . . insults when we seek equality . . . violence when we seek the right to vote . . . privileges when we seek rights."

Sick Of Evasions

"We are sick of evasions, weary of excuses, fed up with promises and want action now, liberty now, equality now."

Replying to what he called the position of some that Negroes "are ignorant, have too many illegitimate children, commit too many crimes and are too heavy a load on public welfare," Nabrit said:

ANDREWS DIES

Chadron — Dr. Lyle V. Andrews, chairman of the division of science and mathematics at Chadron State College, died of a heart attack.

"We believe this present trend to be a transitional period in the adjustment of Negroes to city living."

But he urged the delegates, "We must assume all of the duties of citizenship, many, before we have ever achieved full citizenship."

The Washington, D.C., educator said in his opinion, "We have the most favorable climate in America that we have ever had for the true realization of our civil rights."

The task force idea was offered by NAACP General Counsel Robert L. Carter at a meeting of state conference and branch presidents, executive secretaries, national and field staff members and lawyers.

Venezuelan Educators Start U.S. Tour At NU

Seven Venezuelan educators will visit the University of Nebraska campus Saturday through Tuesday, beginning a special tour of universities and colleges in the United States for them.

The men, all interested in the University's teacher education program, will be assigned interpreters from the NU Romance languages department.

L. A. EDGES YANKS; TOPS MATS TWICE

TOO LATE . . . to get the A's Jose Tartabull as New York 3rd baseman Phil Linz takes the throw.

M & M Boys Connect; Yanks Win 2nd Game

... ATHLETICS WIN 1ST, 11-1

New York (AP) — The New York Yankees, fumbling and feeble in the opener, bombed out 4 home runs — two by Mickey Mantle and one by Roger Maris — in the nightcap to gain a doubleheader split with the Kansas City Athletics Wednesday. The A's won the first 11-1, and the Yankees took the second 7-3.

The Yankees captured the series, 3 games to one. Mantle had 5 home runs in the series, Maris four.

But, the Yankees surrendered first place to the Los Angeles Angels, who won a pair from the Washington Senators.

All the Yankee runs in the second game came on homers and the A's got two the same way.

The A's jumped off to a 2-0 lead when Ed Charles lashed out a tremendous inside-the-park homer, scoring Manny Jimenez, who had singled, ahead of him in the second.

The Yankees got the equalizing runs off starter Dan Pfister in the 5th, when Mantle hit his 14th homer with Bobby Richardson aboard.

In the 6th, New York's Clete Boyer opened with a homer. When Phil Linz singled with one out, Bill Fischer came on to give a single to Richardson, and Maris drove his 19th homer for 3 runs. Mantle followed with his 15th off John Wyatt. The A's scratched back for a run in the 8th.

Pfister got the loss (1-7), with the win going to Bud Daley (4-2).

In the second game, Yankee catcher Elston Howard split his bat in half on a foul ball and the heavy end flew into the stands and struck Thomas Began, 3½-year-old grandson of Herbert Brownell, former attorney general. Brownell carried the boy to the first aid room, and the youngster returned to his seat after treatment. He apparently wasn't injured.

In the opener, rookie right-hander Diego Segui held the Yanks to 6 hits, none in the last 5 innings, to win his 6th game. The A's racked up 16 hits, and were helped by 5 Yankee errors.

Jerry Lumpe, a former Yankee, carried the big bat with a homer, triple and two singles, driving in 4 runs and scoring two. Every man in the A's starting lineup contributed at least one hit.

Nabs Lead In AL By ½ Game

Washington (AP) — The Los Angeles Angels grabbed first place in the American League race Wednesday — the first time since they started jockeying for the top spot — as they swept a doubleheader from the Washington Senators, 4-2 and 4-1.

Ken McBride won his 7th straight in the opener, with an assist from Dean Chance. Ted Bowsfield went 7-2-3 in the nightcap, his longest outing of the season, and won with the help of a save by Art Fowler.

The Senators threw their two top pitchers, Dave Stenhouse and Claude Osteen, at the Angels, but both were tagged rather freely. The Senators outthrew the Angels for the day, 20 to 19, but were feeble with men on base.

Leon Wagner, the league's leading home run hitter, made his only hit of the series in the second game but it was a big one, a drive over the centerfield fence for his 24th homer of the season. He is the first American League player to hit a homer in every park.

Wagner's drive opened the scoring in the third inning of the nightcap and came with Billy Moran on base and two out. Moran had doubled.

Gil Torres hit his 4th homer in the 4th inning of the second game following a lead-off single by Bob Rodgers. Both were off Osteen, who fell for a pinchhitter after 5 innings.

The victory was the 4th straight for the Angels. They were in first place for a day on April 15, but have not led the league since that time. They were within 3 percentage points of the Yankees earlier this week.

Laver Tops Fraser In Wimbledon

... AMERICANS TAKE ANOTHER BLOW IN DOUBLES

Wimbledon, England (AP)—Defending champion Rod Laver and the 21-year-old dark-horse, Martin Mulligan, swept to straight set victories Wednesday for an all-Australian men's singles final and the Americans suffered another jolt in the all-England tennis championships.

The U.S. doubles champions, Chuck McKinley of St. Ann, Mo., and Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., went down before an unranked Yugoslav team, Boris Jovanovic and Nicola Pilic, 4-6, 6-2, 8-6, 6-2.

This was just one in a series of U.S. reverses which have seen the men representatives eliminated before the quarter-finals and only one woman — Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman — survive as far as the semifinals in that division.

Laver, playing at the peak of his game, and Mulligan, showing surprise strength, eliminated Australia's Fraser brothers, Neale and John, with unexpected dispatch on the center court.

ADVERTISMENT

ATHLETE'S FOOT

HOW TO TREAT IT—

Apply instant-drying T-4-L. You feel it take hold to check itching, burning, in minutes. Then in 3 to 5 days, watch infected skin slough off. Watch healthy skin replace it. If not pleased in ONE HOUR, your 48c back of any drug store. NOW AT ALL DRUG STORES.

The bandy-legged Laver, reaching the Wimbledon final for the 4th straight year, cut down former champion Neale Fraser 10-8, 6-1, 7-5. Mulligan, unseeded and virtually unnoticed, powered his way past Neale's kid brother, John, a Melbourne doctor on a holiday, 6-3, 6-2, 6-2.

Laver, now a more prohibitive favorite than ever, and Mulligan, who has spent the last several months in Britain, play Friday for the championship. The women's semifinals will be played today with the final Saturday.

In this competition, the 19-year-old married coed from Chula Vista, Calif., Mrs. Susman, carries the lone remaining U.S. singles hope, playing left-handed Ann Haydon of Britain. Maria Bueno of Brazil, a two-time winner before she became ill a year ago, faces Mrs. Vera Sukova of Czechoslovakia, upset winner over America's second-seeded Darlene Hard.

Laver, to-seeded, and Neale Fraser, the 1960 winner and 3rd seeded this year, looked as if they might be locked in a major battle when their opening set went inexorably with service up to the 17th game — apart from the first two games, when each dropped his own service.

Up to that fateful 17th game, both men, who know each other's play well, were evenly matched but suddenly Laver struck a purple passage of inspired play and took hold of Fraser's service by the scruff of the neck and shook it viciously into submission.

Laver got the ascendancy by an almost superhuman speed of reflex that enabled him to get on top of the ball, whip in a return before Neale had reached the net, and follow in behind that return to kill anything Neale put back.

Laver picked Neale's service off the court with a couple of lightning cross court returns in the 17th game, went on to win the set 10-8, then took two more of Fraser's services in the second set to streak ahead to 5-0. Neale did manage to keep his own service the next game but that set went to Laver 6-1 in only 18 minutes.

Neale started a mix his shots, got a break in the second game of the third set, went ahead to 4-1 — then faded right out.

In contrast to the opening match, the second semifinal between John Fraser and Mulligan seemed a tame affair, with both men playing their first-ever singles on the center court and both as nervous as kittens.

Mulligan, who made good use of a flat backhand drive, never looked in danger — even when John broke him for a 2-0 lead in the 3rd set. Fraser would pull out some crowd-pleasing shots in each rally, then spoil things with shots a park player would be ashamed to own.

Broken Bat Fells Brownell Relative

New York (AP)—A grandson of Herbert Brownell, former Attorney General of the United States, sustained minor injuries when he was struck on the head by a broken bat during the second game of the New York-Kansas City doubleheader at Yankee Stadium Wednesday.

The boy, 3-year-old Thomas Beagan, was injured when the Yankees' Elston Howard broke his bat on a foul ball and the heavy end flew into the box seats, striking the child on the head.

The boy was carried to the first aid room by Brownell, in whose box he was sitting.

He had a slight bruise on the right side of his head, but after ice packs were applied for about 5 minutes he asked to be taken back to the game.

Laws Have 5th Son

Pittsburgh (AP)—The wife of Vernon Law, Pittsburgh Pirates pitcher, gave birth to a son Wednesday. It was the 5th son for the Laws.

BEAU PURPLE UPSETS KELSO TO WIN SUBURBAN HANDICAP

New York (AP)—Outsider Beau Purple broke on top and stole the race from heavily-favored Kelso and Carry Back Wednesday with a front-running, track record victory in the $105,200 Suburban Handicap at Aqueduct.

Kelso, the 3-5 favorite, finished in second place, 2½ lengths back, and Carry Back, a 9-5 second choice, wound up last in the 4-horse field. Garwol was 3rd.

Jockey Bill Boland was aboard Beau Purple, one of two lightweights in the small field contesting the 76th running of the 1¼ mile holiday classic.

The Texas-born jockey, who will be 30 on July 16, simply took the speed horse on the front end when they started in front of the grandstand and dared the other 3 to catch him. They couldn't, as a holiday crowd of 52,154 watched in amazement.

The winner, a bay 5-year-old son of Beau Gar-Water Queen by Johnstown and owned by the Hobeau Farm of Jack Dryfus, Jr., swept under the wire in 2:00 3-5, which erased the 2:01 1-5 track record for the distance.

set by Sword Dancer when he won the $100,000 Woodward Stakes Sept. 24, 1960.

Sword Dancer carried 126 pounds at that time while Beau Purple got in with 115 pounds on this sunny and pleasant afternoon.

Bohemia Stable's Kelso, horse of the year in 1960 and 1961, tried vainly to catch the pacesetter, but failed.

Former Lincolnite Sees Great Opportunity In Peace Corps For Nebraskans

By TOM HUTSON
Star Staff Writer

"There's a great need for people of all ages, all backgrounds and every level of education in the Peace Corps," says a former Lincoln woman.

She's Ruth Sorensen Singer, daughter of Mrs. C. A. Sorensen of 2451 Park Ave. Her husband, Derek, is presently in Bolivia where he will supervise and direct a group of 100 volunteers which arrived July 1.

Mrs. Singer and their two children, Victoria, 6, and Alex, 4, are departing August 1 to join Mr. Singer at Cochabamba, Bolivia, where the Peace Corps group will be headquartered.

This is the first contingent of the Peace Corps to be assigned to Bolivia. Nearly 200 more volunteers will follow within a year.

In the Peace Corps, Mrs. Singer sees a great opportunity for Nebraskans to make themselves known. "Agricultural skills are in demand, and these need not be college-trained skills," she explained.

A brochure seeking agricultural recruits lists experience as a prime requisite for farm volunteers. "Many of the specialists must have college degrees, but hundreds of requests have been made for general farmers . . . for people who grew up with the land."

Only 12 Nebraskans According to the most recent figures, there are but 12 Nebraskans who are Peace Corps volunteers. Five are assigned to the Far East, two to Africa, 3 to Latin America and two to the Near East and Southeast Asia.

This compares to a grand total of 1,857 volunteers in 29 countries. California has contributed the most with more than 160 while there are 20 to 30 Corpsmen from Iowa, Kansas, Colorado and Missouri.

"Most people think of the Peace Corps as young college graduates, but this isn't generally true," Mrs. Singer war i.

A sizeable number (about 30%) of the volunteers do not have college degrees and many are people who have retired or left their jobs to offer their services.

The average age of the male volunteer is 24 while the women who comprise one-third of the total force average 25 years.

There are 10 volunteers in their 60's while about 40 others are older than 40. There are more than 30 married couples.

In Bolivia, as in other host countries, the corpsman will be assigned to work with a Bolivian of similar training. The volunteer will receive wages comparable to those of his Bolivian counterpart. He must then subsist on this income.

"There's little left over for buying clothes and other luxuries," qualified Mrs. Singer.

Savings Of $1,800 At the same time, $75 per month is banked in Washington for severance pay from the Corps. Thus a two-year assignment would yield a savings of $1,800.

"The Corps does not anticipate extending assignments beyond two years since this might create a hard core of 'professionals' and the Peace Corps would lose its morale and freshness," noted Mrs. Singer.

A host country must request help from the Peace Corps before volunteers are assigned there. Negotiations for the Bolivian contingent were conducted over a 6-month period before agreement was reached.

An indication of the success of the program is that "Every one of the 12 countries to which the Peace Corps has sent volunteers has requested additional volunteers."

But what does all this cost?

$9,000 Per Volunteer According to a Peace Corps estimate, the all-inclusive cost per volunteer is approximately $9,000.

Both the Senate and House have voted to authorize $63.75 million for the 1963 fiscal year budget which includes expansion to 5,000 volunteers in 32 countries. Last year Congress appropriated $30 million of an authorized $40 million budget.

Applications for the Peace Corps have been pouring into Washington at the rate of 1,000 per week but Mrs. Singer points out that there is a long process of examination and elimination before assignments are made.

After the volunteers are selected, a 3-phase training period follows with U.S. training lasting 8 weeks, Puerto Rico field training, 4 weeks and host country training, 3 to 4 weeks.

Although administrative personnel must undergo the same training as the volunteers, the Singers were allowed to forego this because they had been in Bolivia for 18 months working for CARE.

In some instances, recruitment for special areas is conducted. This was especially true in the group which is being sent to Bolivia.

"We needed practical nurses and didn't have many applicants, so we went out and did some recruiting," Mrs. Singer related.

One-half of the initial group are health educators and nurses. The other part is predominantly sanitary workers who will build wells and sewer systems.

Less than one-quarter of the Bolivian group have college degrees although nearly all have had some training beyond high school.

Ages Vary Ages vary from one man under 20 to a woman in her 60's. More than half are over 30 years old.

A qualification which stymies many interested people and discourages their application is a language ability. But Mrs. Singer says that many volunteers "start from scratch" with the intensive language training which the Corps offers.

The Singers have had extensive overseas experience. They were in Formosa for two years where Mr. Singer was a training officer for the International Cooperation Administration.

Bonn, Paris Chiefs Talk Unity Again

Paris (AP) — West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and President Charles de Gaulle Wednesday met for a second round of talks to speed Western Europe's economic and political unity.

The 75-minute conversation in Elysee Palace centered on questions facing the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) and the problem of a divided Berlin, according to sources close to the meeting.

They also discussed the thorny problem of arming NATO with nuclear weapons, the sources said.

Adenauer and de Gaulle also discussed a possible meeting with leaders of the other Common Market nations — Italy, Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg — perhaps in September, the sources said.

Rows of mounted Republican Guards stiffened to attention as Adenauer left the Elysee Palace for a reception at the Paris City Hall. There the only sour note of his day's schedule was sounded when communist members of the City Council yelled:

"No revenge-seeking Germans here. Vive the Democratic Republic of (East) Germany."

Other members of the council tried to drown out the disturbance by applauding and cheering the German leader.

The communist councilmen then marched off and placed flowers at a city hall plaque honoring councilmen shot by the Nazis during the occupation.

Another stop on Adenauer's tour was the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier that lies beneath the Arch of Triumph. Adenauer, standing in a drizzling cold rain, placed a wreath on the tomb that is a symbol of France's wartime glory.

Thursday, Adenauer and de Gaulle met for their final talk. They will converse privately for a half hour and then be joined by their foreign ministers and other advisors.

Lunar Speedup Adopted

Washington (UPI) — The space agency was reported Wednesday to have adopted a speed-up plan to get American astronauts on the moon — land them there from a spacecraft flying in lunar orbit.

Under such a technique, a 3-man Apollo spaceship would be launched from Cape Canaveral to go into orbit around the moon. At some point 50 or 100 miles from the moon's surface, a small capsule would separate itself from the "mother" ship and carry two astronauts down to a landing.

After perhaps up to a day of exploring the moon, the two men would climb back into their capsule, take off, and rendezvous with the big ship — where the third astronaut would have remained in control.

Then the big ship, carrying enough fuel to do so, would kick itself out of a lunar orbit with a burst of speed and head back to earth and a landing.

Possible By 1966

Proponents of such a method have said it might make a moon landing possible in 1966, about two years earlier than previously estimated.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration had several techniques to choose from, and was reported Wednesday to have selected this one over either the "direct" approach or the earth rendezvous method.

For one thing, the lunar orbit could be achieved with only one advanced Saturn. This mighty rocket which is now under development, will have 7.5 million pounds of thrust in its booster stage. The Atlas, used in the present Mercury orbital flights, has only 360,000 pounds of thrust.

But the "direct approach" method, which would launch the Apollo mooncraft straight towards the lunar surface without any orbits, would require a much bigger booster than the Saturn.

Such a rocket, the Nova, is in the design stage. It would have 12 million pounds of thrust.

Unlike the Saturn, whose first test versions are scheduled for delivery to NASA next July, Nova is not expected to reach the flight test stage until later in the 1960s.

ARRIVING AT WARDS IN LINCOLN 8 A.M. SAT. LONGEST CAB RIDE IN HISTORY HERE!

VERIFIES TEST-TRACK EVIDENCE: "MONTHS MORE RIDE WITH RIVERSIDE TIRES"

Saturday you can see one of the two cabs criss-crossing America to prove publicly the superior mileage built into Wards famous Riverside ST-107 Tire. Cabs are equipped with regular Riverside Tires taken directly from retail stocks. Marathon cab ride will equal 3 years' driving for the average motorist. Tires will be driven until they're smooth—and total mileage is expected to reach surprisingly high levels. Previous test-track findings last Fall proved Riversides gave months more ride than 4 other nationally advertised, first-line 4-ply Nylons. Now these facts get open-road demonstration. See the cab, talk to the driver at Wards!

Wards Riverside Tires Tops!

Nearly 50 years of careful testing, superb design and top-notch quality go into Riverside Tires.

Made in one of the world's largest tire factories, Riverside "Check-rated" Tires are built to a standard of quality—not to meet a price!

At a giant test track in Lancaster, California, Riverside ST-107's were driven for 1000 miles at 95 MPH—to assure Riverside buyers of maximum safety at expressway speeds. At another test track in Texas, Riverside—and other major brands—were driven almost continuously over a 375-mile loop—1100 miles a day.

It is here that tire engineers learned conclusively that Riverside would give months more ride than 4 other major-brand tires. More ride, more safety, better all-around performance. Because of the continuous, top-quality test program maintained by Riverside, many major Fleet operators rely on Riverside Tires in rugged commercial use with expensive pay-loads. These cost-conscious, big-volume purchasers depend on Riverside "specifications" and Quality Control. Any motorist can get the same fine Riversides at more than 1200 Wards stores nationwide.

Governors' Confab Floundering

Hershey, Pa. (UPI) — The National Governors' Conference appears to be floundering in the 4 short years it has opened its formal sessions to political controversy. No one really expects the 54-year-old institution will disband, but muttered warnings heard from the south a year ago became noisy threats at the governors' final business session Tuesday. Prior to 4 years ago, most of the politics at the annual governors' meetings came out of press conferences. Many governors were willing and some were eager to field questions from newsmen. Small Headlines But their formal sessions dealt largely with state problems which made small headlines — traffic safety, juvenile delinquency, mental hospitals and the like. They had some fun at their meetings but politics was extra-curricular. At the closing session in those days, the governors adopted resolutions which were published only if approved by unanimous vote. The resolutions were discussed and put to a vote in closed sessions. In 1959, the procedure was liberalized. The resolutions were discussed and put to a vote in public sessions and the vote needed to make them the voice of the governors' conference was cut to two-thirds. Political controversy slipped quickly into the new machinery. By coincidence, these developments coincided with the attendance of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York at the annual conferences. While reaching for national political stature in the GOP, he seemed interested in converting the meetings into a forum for debate on national issues.

Rockefeller put the civil rights issue into the conference last year although it had long been excluded by gentlemen's agreement. As he conceded, the conferences have no power to bind the individual governors and can only speak as a voice of the majority.

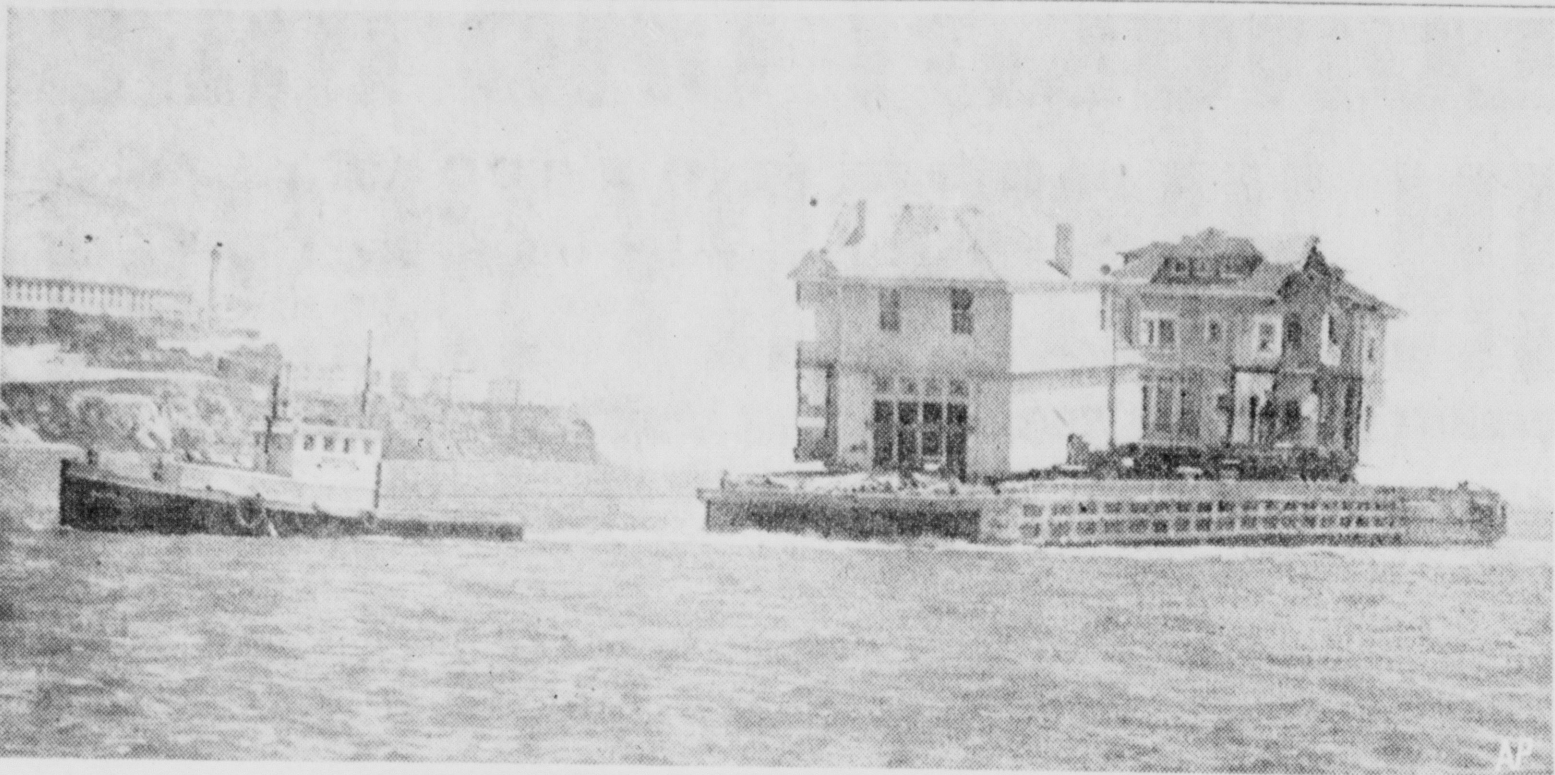

With help from other Republicans, Rockefeller pressed for a stronger civil rights resolution this year and the southern Democrats rebelled. Northern Democrats found themselves in a political trap whenever the roll was called and they could be discovered voting against civil rights.

Southern governors talked bluntly about withdrawing from the national conference and said the issue could only complicate their problems at home.

Gov. Ernest F. Hollings of North Carolina started a filibuster Tuesday and made no effort to conceal what he was doing. It was small stuff compared with an old-fashioned talkathon in the United States Senate, but it was unprecedented at the governors' conference.

Some disgusted Democrats concluded that the entire resolutions procedure should be abandoned and that the resolutions committee should be abolished. This proposal was rejected for the time being but was referred to the new executive committee of the conference.

Ultimately, the whole civil rights issue was shelved for this year and the governors' were invited to sign anybody's resolution they liked.

A 60-year-old mansion split into halves, on a large barge, is towed past Alcatraz Prison in San Francisco Bay. The 170-ton structure will be moved to a new foundation in nearby Belvedere where it will be sold as a private

Price Jungle Stuns Young Americans

Denver (AP) — Young Americans get lost in the price jungle of the supermarket and risk financial ruin through so-called easy credit, a counsel on consumer finances said Wednesday.

Mrs. Helen Ewing Nelson, consumer counsel in the California governor's office, said there is "shocking evidence of our failure as a society to equip our young couples for their responsibility as consumers."

"Consumers are finding credit so easy to obtain," she said, "they are spending themselves into financial ruin . . . not until it is too late do consumers discover there is very little that is easy about easy credit."

Leap In

"The soundest advice you can give your students on this score is this: 'You can leap into debt, but you have to crawl out.'"

Mrs. Nelson said most people, and young married couples in particular, do not really know how much they pay for credit in terms of simple annual interest. Many think they pay 5 or 6% when buying an automobile on time, but "actually, most of them pay between 12 and 33%."

Costs More

A $15,000 mortgage at 7% interest, she said, costs $3,500 more interest over a 25-year period than a similar loan at 6%.

"That $3,500 is almost enough to send $100 a month to a child in college during a 4-year school term," Mrs. Nelson pointed out. "Thus, a difference of only one point in the interest rate on a home loan can mean the difference between a child's getting a college education and not getting one."

The typical bride today is 18 and the groom is 20, Mrs. Nelson said, and during their lifetime they will have to plan and manage the expenditure of at least a quarter of a million dollars. They will spend many thousands of dollars in buying tons of food and "they will not be helped by current labeling and packaging practices."

Mrs. Nelson told of a price-comparison test made in a Sacramento, Calif., supermarket. Five housewives with college backgrounds were asked to buy 14 items each, making their selections solely on the basis of the largest quantity for the lowest price.

They managed to get the best bargains 36 times, and failed 34 times she said.

Another Test

She told of another supermarket test in which an electronic computer was used to calculate the price per pound of various items. The range of prices she said, included:

Toilet soap, 27 cents to 92 cents per pound, salt, 5 cents to $1.46 per pound; white rice, 19 cents to 33 cents per pound, hot cereal 19 cents to 44 cents per pound, peanut butter, 40 cents to 77 cents per pound, canned tomatoes, 14 cents to 34 cents per pound, and detergent, 35 cents to 52 cents per pint.

Prairie Park Still 'Possible' Despite Roads

Omaha (AP) — The National Park Service said Wednesday it is not giving up hope for the proposed Prairie National Park in Pottawatomie County, Kan., although another government agency plans to build roads through the area.

Army Engineers have announced that they will construct roads, under agreement with commissioners of Pottawatomie County. A spokesman for the engineers said the primary purpose of the roads will be access to the new Tuttle Creek reservoir.

Howard W. Baker, regional director of the Park Service, said the service earlier hoped hearings and congressional action would be taken this year.

'Small Chance'

"We have learned from congressional leaders that there is small chance this legislation will be taken up before adjournment," Baker said.

So far as the proposed area is concerned, he added, "these new road sections will make additional undesirable scars," but "it seems only reasonable that the roads be provided now."

Baker, who has his headquarters in Omaha, said the Park Service "looks forward optimistically" to reintroduction of legislation for Prairie National Park, and action on it, during the next session of Congress.

Mixo Shares Denmark Platform With President

Rebild, Denmark (UPI) — Richard M. Nixon and President Kennedy vocally shared the same platform Wednesday at the traditional Fourth of July celebration here.

The former vice president was main speaker at the 50th annual Rebild Festival commemorating America's Independence Day and a tape-recorded message from Kennedy was played for the huge crowd.

Nixon, whose "non-political" speech highlighted a controversial visit to Denmark, called on Americans to remember the great debt the United States owes to the Danish people.

Big Contribution
"Nearly half a million Americans who were born in Denmark or are the children of Danes have made a magnificent contribution to our national life," he said.

The celebration had its tragic moment when Henry R. Henius, 78, son of Dr. Max Henius, founder of the festival, collapsed and died. Henius, of San Mateo, Calif., was to have been guest of honor at the unveiling of his father's bust but he got lost in the hills of his father's home and was late for the ceremony. He apologized for being late and expressed gratitude at "seeing so many old friends here," but the strain of walking apparently was too great and he collapsed and died.

Partisan Note
A partisan note crept into the proceedings when the Danish morning newspaper "Politiken" praised the Kennedy administration as more "Statesman-like" than that of former President Eisenhower and vice president Nixon.

"On this day when Kennedy's rival speaks in Rebild," the editorial said, "We can only state that Nixon's Republican party has not been able to forward any alternative against the foreign policy of the Kennedy administration."

In his speech, Nixon steered clear of American politics and instead bitterly denounced the communist method of securing "independence."
Nixon said the American Declaration of Independence "speaks to the world, not just of freedom for Americans, but for all men. Not of independence only for the United States, but for all nations. Not of rights that some men are allowed to have because of the whim of others, but of rights which belong to all men — because these rights come from God and cannot, therefore, be denied by men."

Contrast Cited
Contrasting the American Revolution with the communist, Nixon said, "In less than half a century communism has grown from a cellar conspiracy to a power ruling one-third of the globe and one billion people."
"Much of the appeal of the communist revolution has been its exploration of the legitimate aspirations of men to be free and nations to be independent," he said. "But the communists are having increasing troubles in covering up the facts of communism in practice with the veneer of communism in theory."

Dr. Byers Tabbed

TWO PERSONS DIED

Cars of a Florida-to-New York passenger train left the tracks near Florence, S.C., Wednesday. The fireman and engineer were killed and 10 passengers injured. Most of the cars, like the ones shown here, plunged halfway into a gully beside the tracks.

Joan Blondell Plays Same 'Heart Of Gold' Role Again

Hollywood (UPI) — Joan Blondell is back in town playing the role of a character she's been doing for years — "the girl with a heart of gold."

On screen, Miss Blondell's heart has more gold than a miser's mattress.

"That's what I always play, everybody's friend," said Joan while waiting for cameras to roll on her ex-husband Dick Powell's television show in which she co-stars.

Female Good Guy
For years, the talented actress rarely escaped being a female good guy, the most notable exception being when she portrayed "Ma Baker," the famous lady gangster of the 1930's.

Any gold in "Ma's" heart was put there with the aid of a pistol.

"That part got even for all the sweetness and light I've portrayed for years," Joan said. "She was the most vicious woman alive. I chewed that role up, even scared the camera crew."

Miss Blondell, who has moved back here to live after residing in New York for years, boasted "there's not a heart of gold part I haven't been offered."

"I was forever giving up the leading man," she complained. "I even threw a couple of guys Glenda Farrell's way, with a moist eye. I gave some of the nicest guys to gals like Bette Davis, Greer Garson, and Lana Turner."

"And what guys they were, Jimmy Gagney, Errol Flynn, Douglas Fairbanks Jr., Dick Powell and Clark Gable. Giv-

California Girl's Body Recovered By Skin Divers

Los Angeles (AP) — The body of an 11-year-old Torrance girl missing from her trailer court home was found floating in the ocean about 40 miles south of here.

Police said there was a similarity between this case and the still unsolved disappearance about a year ago, in the same Torrance area, of a girl the same age and appearance as Dorothy Gale Brown.

William F. Brown, 38, an aircraft engineer, tearfully identified the body of his daughter after a skin diver found it and brought it ashore at Corona Del Mar.

Orange County Sheriff's Sgt. Don Chaney said the nude body of the plump, blonde youngster was a considerable distance off shore in water 25 feet deep.

An autopsy was ordered to determine the cause of death and whether the girl had been criminally attacked.

The girl was last seen riding her bicycle near the trailer court home occupied by herself and her parents. The court is less than 8 blocks from where 11-year-old Karen Lynn Tompkins vanished a year ago. The Tompkins girl was never found.

These offices will not be opened until the harvest rush actually reaches that particular area. Hiner said that, from the appearance of the wheat fields in Deuel County, predictions are that harvest could easily begin there about July 15. This forecast has also been made by observers in the Lodgepole vicinity.

Big Loss Of Talent

Mexican Official Says No Winner Or Loser

... IN KENNEDY TALKS

Mexico City (UPI) — Foreign Affairs Secretary Manuel Tello said Wednesday there were no "victors or vanquished" in the talks between President Kennedy and Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

Tello issued the statement as a result of the interpretation by some foreign newspapers on certain comments to that effect by the Mexican press on the visit here last week by President and Mrs. Kennedy.

Tello's statement said that there was no connection with any specific case of the wording in the joint communique issued by Kennedy and Lopez Mateos which reiterated the principles of non-intervention and the self-determination of peoples.

Opposed Position
Lopez Mateos has opposed the United States position on the danger of Communist aggression in Cuba. Some sources had interpreted the communique as meaning his view had prevailed.

But the Tello statement said it was incorrect "to imply that in the conversations held by the two chief executives were there victors or van-

GLOOM CAST OVER FESTIVAL IN DENMARK

... Attended By Nixon

Rebild, Denmark (AP) — The sudden death of a prominent Dane who shared a speaker's platform with King Frederik IX and Richard M. Nixon cast gloom Wednesday over Denmark's annual festival observing American Independence Day.

Henry Henius, 78, son of the founder of the U.S.-Danish Rebild Festival, collapsed and died moments after he had addressed thousands of Danes and Americans gathered for the 50th annual observance at Rebild National Park in northern Jutland.

Just before Henius' address, the crowd had vigorously applauded a call by former U.S. Vice President Nixon to stand by the ideals of the American Revolution in the face of the communist threat. Nixon came to the festival at the request of the organizing committee, which always invites a prominent American to deliver the keynote address.

After Henius delivered his address, he tottered slowly back to his seat on the platform. Minutes later he collapsed.

Busy TV Producer Relaxes Running Miss Universe Show

By JACK GAVR

New York (UPI) — Every summer for the past 3 years Paul Levitan has been able to get a nice bit of relief from such mundane matters as political conventions, elections, inaugurations, and the general run of current events.

This director of special events for the CBS-TV network relaxes with the production of the telecast of the "Miss Universe" beauty pageant finals from Miami Beach, Fla. The next one will be on CBS July 14.

"Watching the pageant on television will be something like having a front-row seat at the event itself," Levitan said.

Since there are only so many front-row seats, actually the home viewers will probably be getting a better look at the beautiful representatives of 57 world-wide geographical areas, plus various U.S. entrants, than many of the 15,000 on the scene in Miami Beach. Six video cameras will be used to pick up every phase of the competition.

TV Phobia

"Last year," Levitan said, "the viewers got a wonderful closeup of one of the girls burying her face in her hands and running off the stage when it was announced that she had won the pageant's amity award, on which the girls themselves vote. She was Eleftheria de Lucio, the delegate from Greece. That girl had a real television phobia. She had fainted every time she stepped in front of a camera during the 3 days of preliminaries."

Busy TV Producer Relaxes Running Miss Universe Show

By JACK GAVR

New York (UPI) — Every summer for the past 3 years Paul Levitan has been able to get a nice bit of relief from such mundane matters as political conventions, elections, inaugurations, and the general run of current events.

This director of special events for the CBS-TV network relaxes with the production of the telecast of the "Miss Universe" beauty pageant finals from Miami Beach, Fla. The next one will be on CBS July 14.

"Watching the pageant on television will be something like having a front-row seat at the event itself," Levitan said.

Since there are only so many front-row seats, actually the home viewers will probably be getting a better look at the beautiful representatives of 57 world-wide geographical areas, plus various U.S. entrants, than many of the 15,000 on the scene in Miami Beach. Six video cameras will be used to pick up every phase of the competition.

War Damage Claim Bill Key To U.S.-Philippine Relations

By DON C. BECKER
 Manila (UPI) — No matter how you say it, long-cordial Philippine-American relations currently are hanging on the fate of a $73 million Philippine war damage claim against the United States.
 President Diosdado Macapagal may not put it quite so bluntly, but those are the facts.
 Many Americans see the defeat of the war claims bill (if they know about it at all) as a fluke, a mistake. House Speaker John McCormack simply failed to count his votes in advance.

 After all, they argue, the administration backed the bill and McCormack himself assured President Kennedy that it would pass on the very morning it was defeated in the U.S. House last May.
 Reaction Indignant
 The Philippine reaction was indignant.

Macapagal took the defeat as a personal insult, particularly since he had been accused during the 1961 presidential campaign of being too pro-American.
 Within a week after the surprising defeat, Macapagal switched Philippine Independence Day from July 4 to June 12 and indefinitely postponed his scheduled visit to the United States.
 Later, he sharply criticized American policy on Laos and his attitude toward the United States has been reserved ever since.

The gestures in defiance of the United States were well received among the Filipinos. Newspaper editorials praised Macapagal and the vote-conscious opposition did not dare to criticize his actions, a rare occurrence in the highly-partisan political arena of the Philippines.
 Since then, Macapagal has been assured by countless Americans that the long-promised war damage bill will be approved before the present session of Congress is ended.

Personal letters have poured in from Americans and U.S. newspapers have spoken as almost one voice in saying Congress gave the Philippines a raw deal.
 "Show Me Attitude
 This has helped to warm things up but the prevalent attitude here seems to be "show me." The Filipinos, through the leadership of Macapagal, have reached a mood where the years of sincerely warm goodwill that stretch back half a century and more can be wiped out if the U.S. Congress doesn't pass the bill.
 The fact that the United States has poured almost $2 billion in aid into this country since World War II has been obscured because as the Filipinos see it, a promise is a promise. As one Filipino put it, "What did Yugoslavia ever do for the United States?"

Deluge Leaves 19 Dead In Japan
 Tokyo (AP) — The rainy season's heaviest downpour caused death and destruction Wednesday from the southern-most island of Kyushu to central Japan.
 Nationalist police reported 19 persons were killed, 8 were missing and 16 injured as 8 to 10 inches of rain fell during the night.
 Police said 56,800 persons were flooded out of their homes.

TIGER BY THE TAIL
 The quizzical look on Col. E. H. Patterson's face is not one of concern. That's his tiger, and he knows she is affectionate. He was just showing off as he presented the tiger to the Portland zoo. He raised the tiger from a baby.

Political Fireworks Flare Up In 'All-American' Sioux City, Iowa

Sioux City, Iowa (UPI) — Political fireworks overshadowed the real kind in this "All-American" city Wednesday as a battle royal between the mayor and city manager flared anew.
 Mayor George Young touched off the latest explosion Tuesday night by demanding the immediate resignation of City Manager Conny Bodine.
 Bodine, with apparent majority backing on the city council, flatly refused and left the next step up to the council.

"The council can settle this matter, it's beyond me to do anything," Bodine said.
 City Manager: 'No'
 In answer to a direct question from newsmen, whether he would resign, Bodine said, "No, I am not."
 Young's request for Bodine's resignation broke an apparent truce in the week-long battle.
 The squabble was touched off one week ago Wednesday when Councilwoman Mrs. Marie White made public Bodine's "confidential" memo to the council accusing the mayor of "inattention, irresponsibility and ineptness" in handling municipal affairs.
 Bodine served a virtual ultimatum that the council "get a responsible mayor or a new city manager."
 The apparent truce was reached when Bodine sent a letter to the mayor which he said was an apology.
 "I Apologize"
 "It contained the sentence, 'I apologize to you personally,'" Bodine said.
 However, Mayor Young said the apology was not acceptable.

 He issued a 19-word statement saying, "I feel after a week of not receiving a satisfactory apology that now I ask for Bodine's immediate resignation."
 Young did not attend the informal council session Tuesday night to discuss the 1963 budget for Iowa's third largest city, recently honored as one of the nation's "All-American" cities.

Getting Paratroopers Out Of Trees Vietnamese Problem

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam and its U.S. military advisors are studying ways to get paratroopers down out of trees faster.
 In one airborne operation 500 Vietnamese paratroopers were dropped from 900 feet over dense jungle north of here. Two-thirds of the men were hung up in the trees.
 It took nearly half an hour to get most of them in action.
 Luckily, the dangling paratroopers were not exposed to any heavy enemy fire. Casualties were negligible.
 "When you drop men over jungle, you expect most of them to get hung up, and it doesn't matter, as long as they can get down in a hurry," one U.S. officer said.

Jordanians Shoot Into Jerusalem

Jerusalem, Israel (UPI) — Jordanian Arab Legion troops poured rifle and machine gun fire Wednesday into the Israeli sector of Jerusalem.
 At least one Israeli soldier was killed, another wounded and one woman was injured in the 15-minute incident during which Israelis returned the fire.
 It was not known whether the Jordanians suffered any casualties.
 Israel lodged a strong protest with the mixed armistice commission.
 The firing started shortly before 7 p.m. from a number of Jordanian positions in the old sector of the divided city.
 Volleys of machine-gun fire rained into the Jewish quarters in the Mount Zion area.
 Traffic on nearby roads was halted and Israeli patrols moved in to return the shots.
 The Israeli-Jordanian commission was asked to begin an immediate investigation.

Trees Are Tall
 The 50-foot lines paratroopers carry for getting out of trees often prove inadequate. Trees are sometime 100 feet high.
 Parachute experts have studied British parachute gear of the type used in Malayan air drops, including a system of spools from which a dangling trooper can pay out his line as he descends from a tree. The spools generally are considered too cumbersome for use here.
 In heavily forested areas where there are neither roads nor canals and where helicopters cannot land, airborne operations are considered vital.
 Vietnamese units are equipped with large parachutes designed for Americans. The light Vietnamese troops descend more slowly than their weighty U.S. advisors, and even light winds blow the Vietnamese paratroopers away from the drop zone.

Top Israel Court Rejects Request To Return Soblen

Jerusalem, Israeli Section (AP) — The Israel high court Wednesday rejected a request that Soviet spy Robert Soblen, now in a London hospital, be returned to Israel.
 The request was filed by Soblen's Israeli lawyer, Ari Ankori, who maintained in vain that as Soblen was in custody of the Israeli airline, El Al, which flew him out Sunday, he was for all practical purposes still on Israeli soil.
 He stabbed himself while approaching London en route to the United States to serve a life sentence and is recovering in a London hospital.
 Informed sources said 4 opposition party motions of no confidence in the government's deportation of Soblen will come before parliament next week.

DID YOU KNOW THIS? IT'S A FACT:

Thin marble panels in the ceiling of the Lincoln Memorial were treated with beeswax to give translucence.

Hydrologists have recently developed an electronic device, reputed to find underground water simply, quickly and cheaply.

Koala bears, Australian teddy bears, rarely drink water. They obtain moisture from eucalyptus leaves.

About 40% of the weight of a fully-loaded jet airliner consists of fuel.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

AXYDLBAAXR

One letter simply stands for another, in this example. A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a number puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. Then the number of letters in your last name. Add the two numbers together. If the sum is less than 26, add 26. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message in letters under the checked figures gives you.
